"A Work of Merit Finds Favor at Last."

Mrs. Claire Shaw

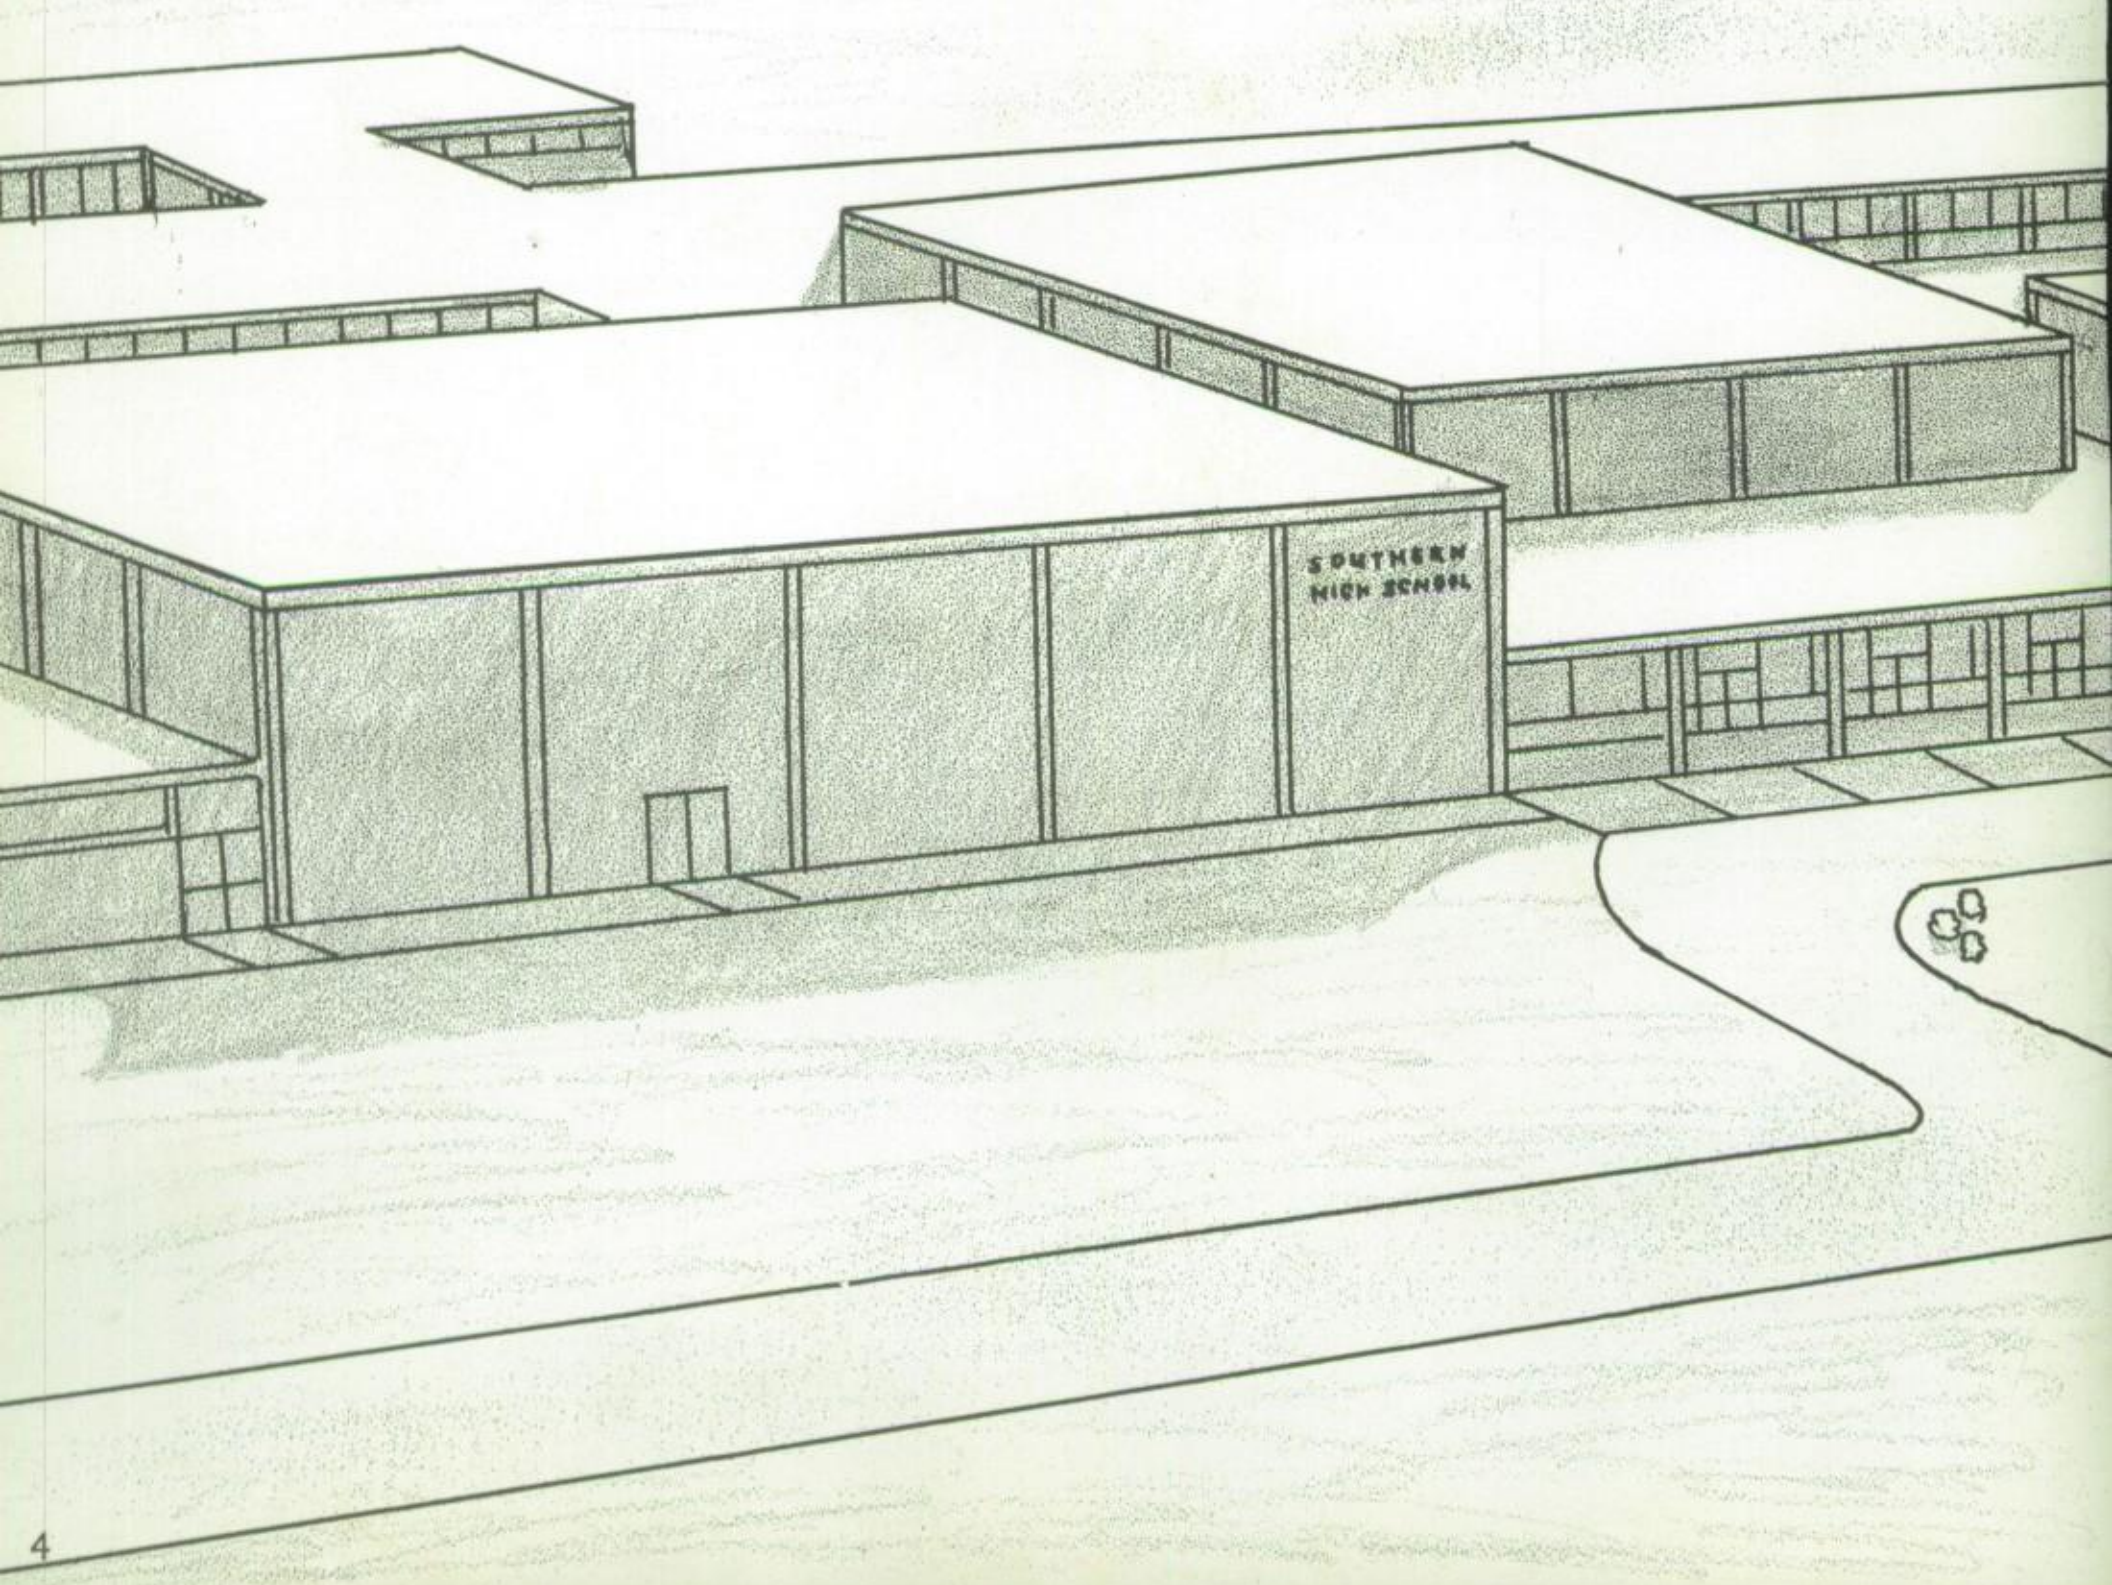
A friend as well as a teacher, a mother to her family at home and to all students at Southern, an inspiration in her church and her community: these characteristics constitute her silhouette.

Mrs. Shaw, we dedicate the 1966 Le Sabre to you.

A Decade of

September, 1955.
The doors of Southern High School opened for the first time to enthusiastic students and an eager faculty.

Since that time
the Rebels have founded the traditions that became Southern High School, our school.



Attainment

Establishing a reputation for themselves in every aspect of school life - in athletic, social, and academic activities - the students have given meaning to the name of Southern.

So stands Southern today, 1965-66.

September

First Assembly: installation of student council members. One of the most vital organizations at Southern, the student council is in charge of all assemblies, morning announcements, the Christmas baskets, and all school elections.

Back to school--and Rebels begin their tenth anniversary with a challenge, "Climb Every Mountain." The annual party, meeting new students, and readjusting to school life helped to orientate the students of Southern for a new school year.

There's more than one way to polish an apple, so these FTA girls welcome faculty members back to Southern with a delightful and delicious tea, a good beginning for another good year.

TYPICAL REBELS?

October

The Rebel gridiron set the scene for most of Southern's activities in October. Brightening the field were two new additions: a scoreboard and the new coach, Mr. Walker. Pep rallies, newly-clad Southern marchers, and enthusiasm among loyal supporters stimulated all the rough, tough, Rebel teams to victory.

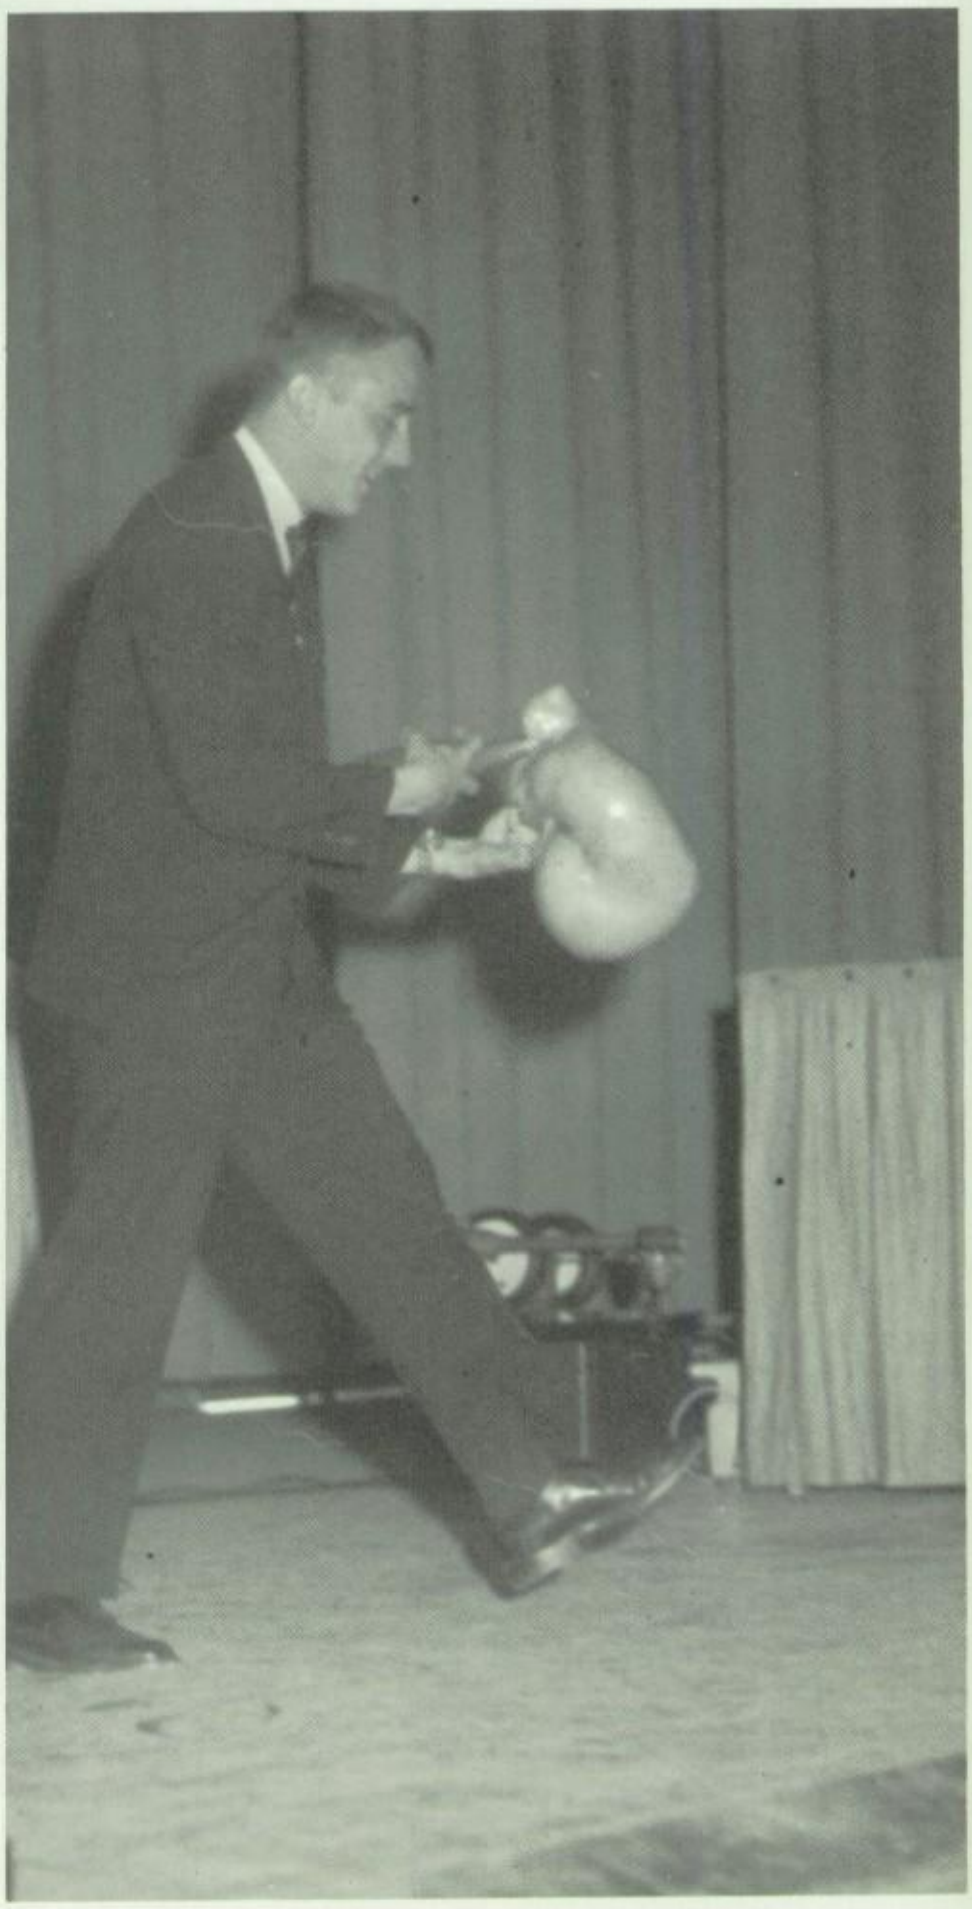
November

For the tenth year juniors were fitted for class rings.

Highlighting the month of November was the Student Council Chocolate Sale. Measurements for class rings seemed to prompt future seniors to work a little bit harder on their schoolwork. Near the end of the month the Ford Assembly provided an interesting and enlightening program. The Thanksgiving vacation, which followed the Ford Assembly, served as a break in the monotony of the school routine for the Rebels.

This salesman's main complaint is, "World's Finest Chocolate melts in your hand not in your mouth."



Now wasn't that a nice fragrance?

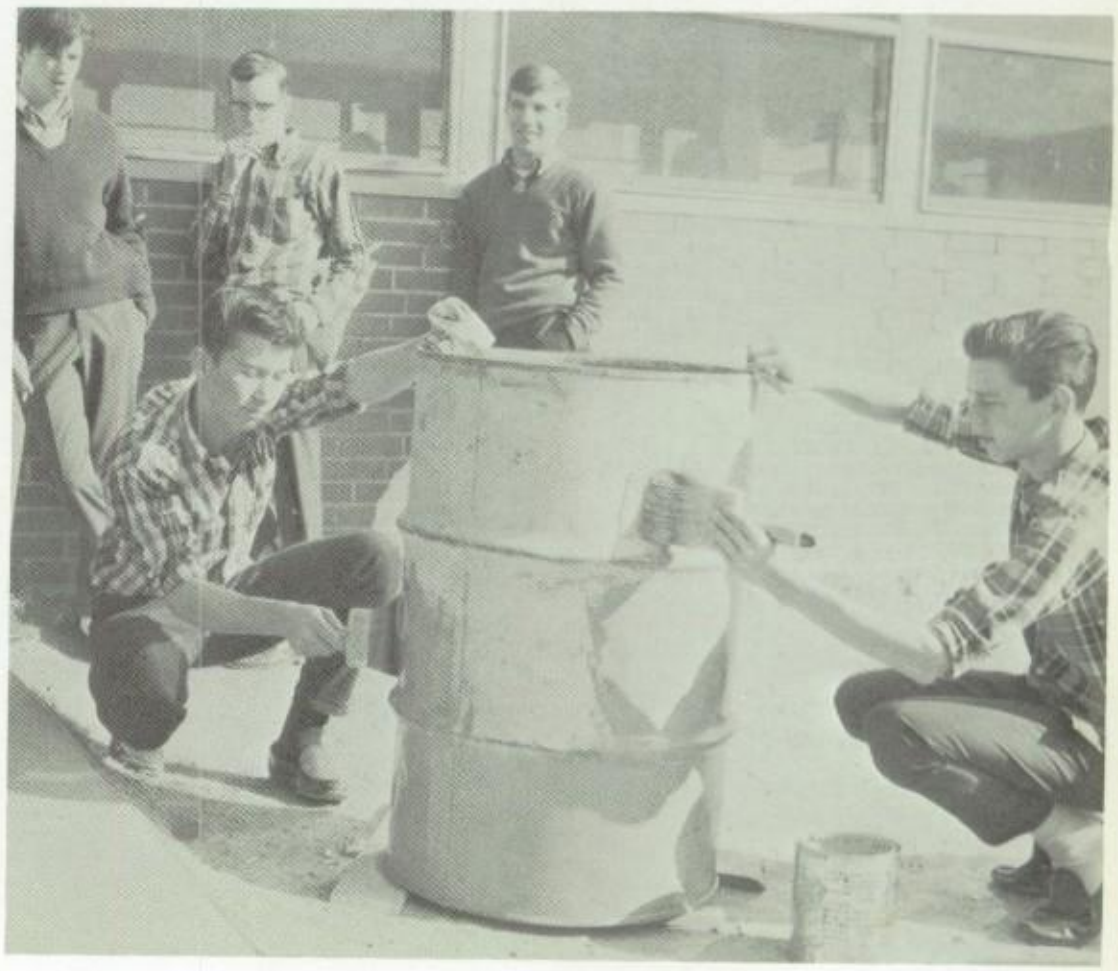
December

While the cheerleaders held a pajama party to arouse school spirit, the first echoes of bouncing basketballs could be heard from the gym. Strides were made through the Student Council's School Betterment Program to improve Southern. During our annual College Day, when representatives from various colleges journeyed to Southern, interested juniors and seniors inquired and planned for the future. Remembering the needy, the Student Council delivered Christmas baskets.

And what's the ratio of BOYS to girls?

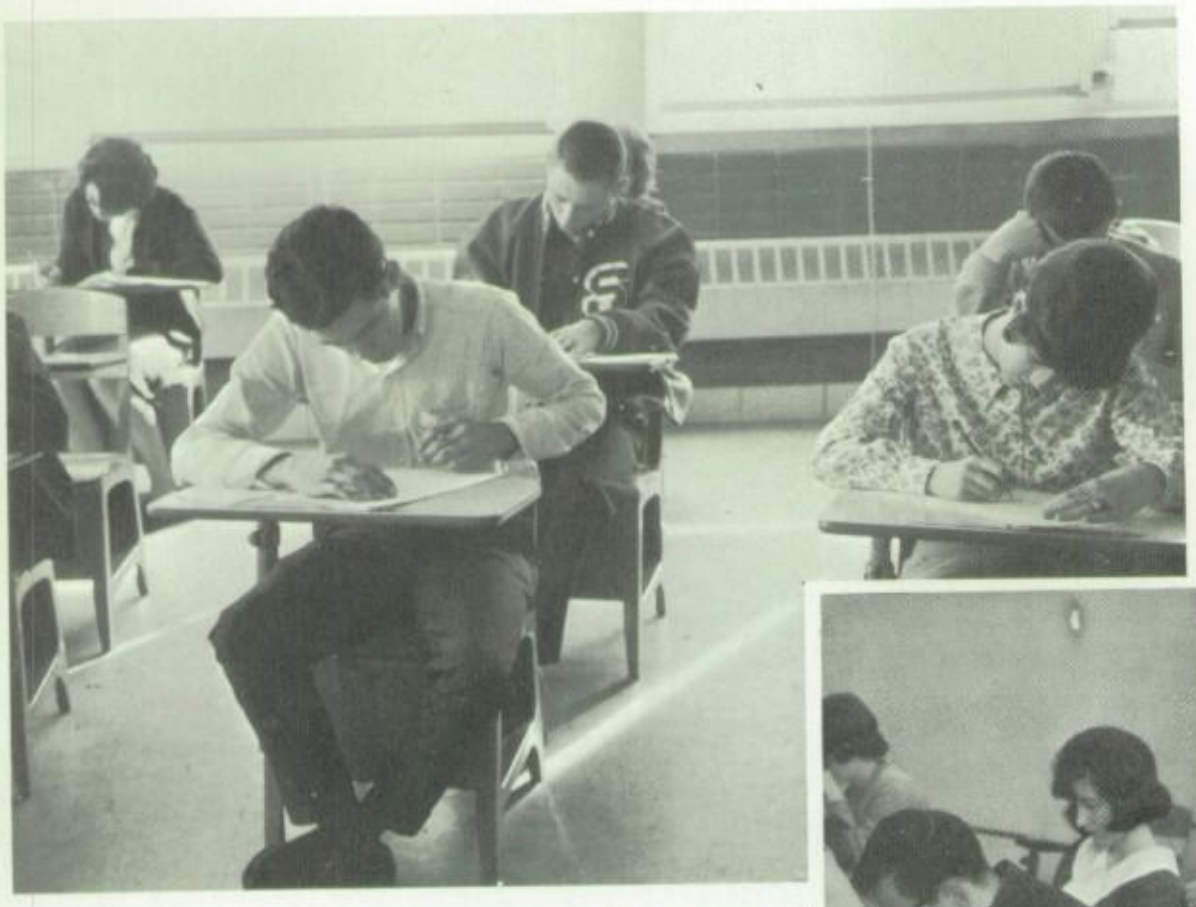
Cheerleaders catnap at a pep rally, but are soon aroused by the enthusiastic cheers from the Southern bleachers.

School Betterment Campaign is launched by orange paint and industrious students.



January

With hopes and aspirations anewed, Rebels eagerly accepted the challenge of a new year, only to face the disheartening task of taking exams. Snowmen and sleds characterized our "spring vacation" after exams. As seniors ordered caps, gowns, and calling cards, they anticipated the mid-June graduation exercises.



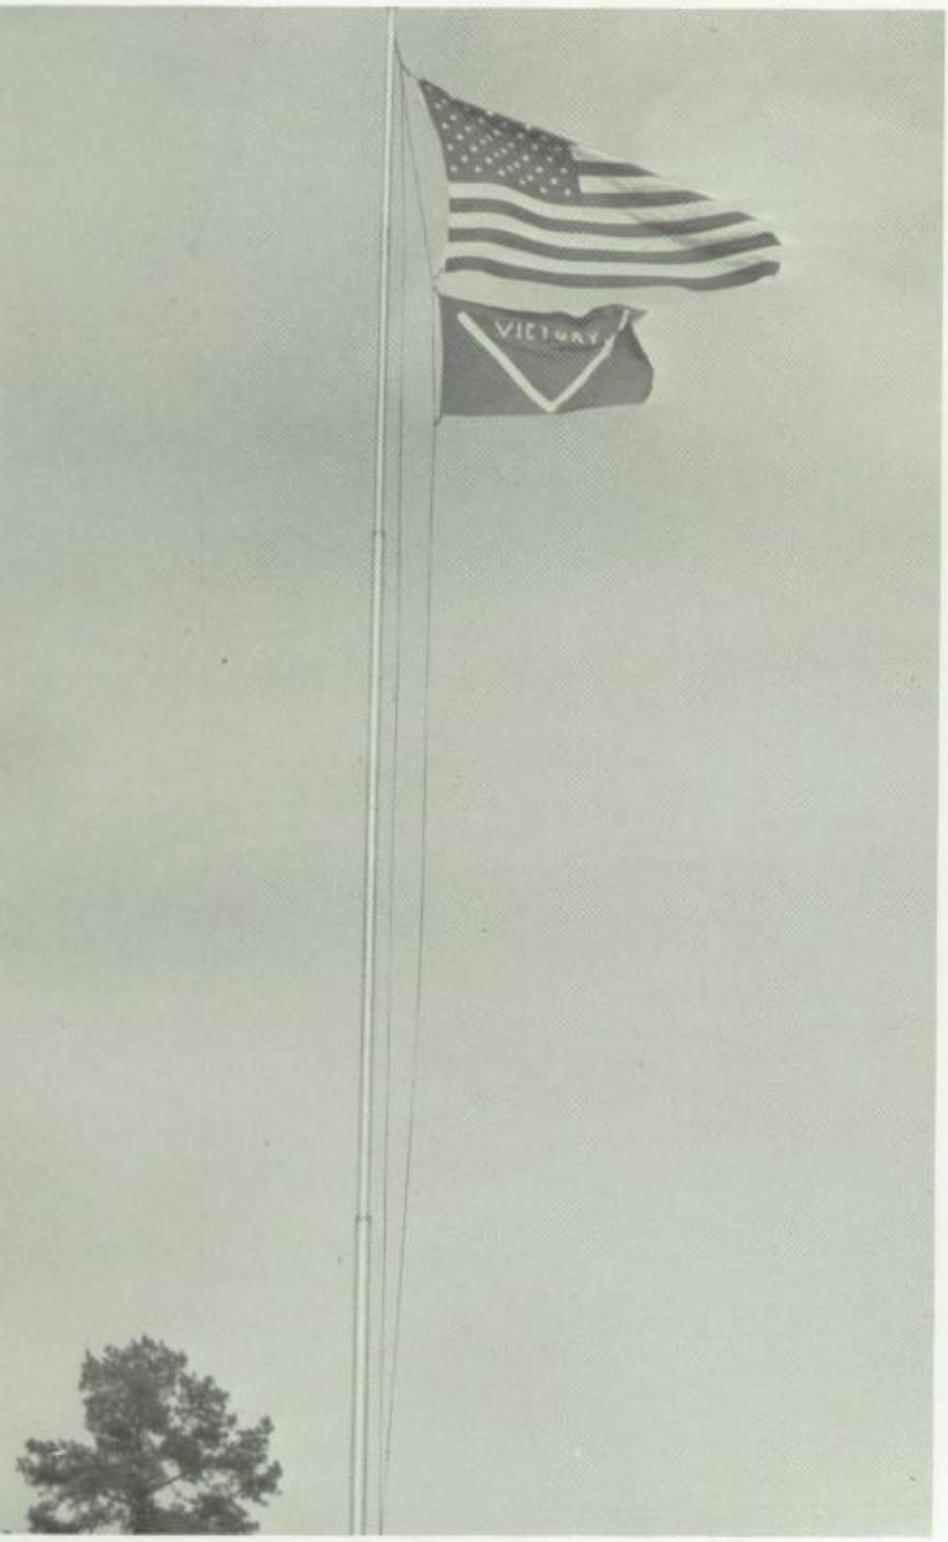
Concentrated study pays off.

It's never too late-----or is it?

Excited seniors dream of days to come.

We'd rather fight than switch back!

February



V-V-Victory, F-F-Flag

As the sounds of excited fans filled the gym, the basketball season entered its closing months. School Spirit Week sported such events as "Lick 'em Day", "Chuga-Chuga Day", and "Twirp Day". As industrious students spoke on "The United Nations After Twenty Years", all Southerners realized the importance of efforts to insure world peace in our complex society.

Harris hits the top again.

After a snowy vacation Rebels are still happy to hear the 3:10 bell ring.

March

March entered Southern quietly, but left its mark on all Rebels. Junior High students enjoyed their somewhat melted Winter Carnival, and crowned Karen Howerton "Miss Snowflake". Later Drama Club members rehearsed for Thorton Wilder's Our Town. The Annual clash of the parents and the teachers in volleyball and basketball saw the faculty capture victories in both matches. Sunny days and gusty winds instilled in all Rebels the spirit of Spring.

April

April showers brought not only May flowers to Southern but also the enchanting music of the Wofford College Choir. "April Fool Folly" enabled the Juniors to produce a spectacular Junior-Senior Prom. While some Rebels displayed their talents in singing and dancing, others revealed their ambitions as politicians. Colorful posters, suckers, and voting machines highlighted a week of campaigning and voting.

Automation sets in.

May

Not all Rebels suffered from spring fever!

Life at Southern began to blossom in May with the Drama Club's last production, "The Stolen Prince" and Leonard Bernstein's "Young Performers" concert. As the close of school approached, the 1965-66 Student Council evaluated its successes and shortcomings, and new student body leaders were installed. Seniors exchanged calling cards among their classmates. Juniors haughtily displayed new class rings. Even the cafeteria blossomed in May: its transformation for "An Evening in Paris" climaxed the year for upper classmen,

Administration and Curriculum

A Decade of Attainment
In its 10th anniversary year, Southern functions and achieves because of an effective administration, faculty, staff, and curriculum.

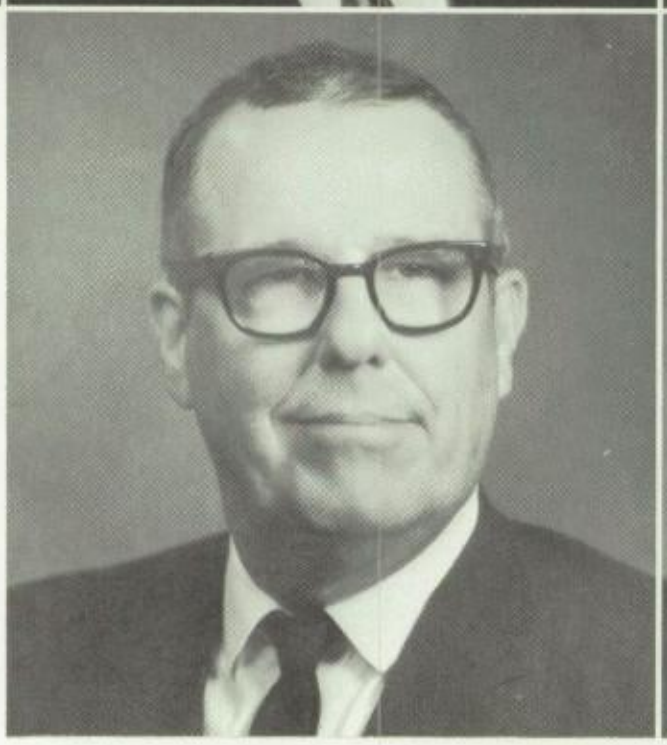
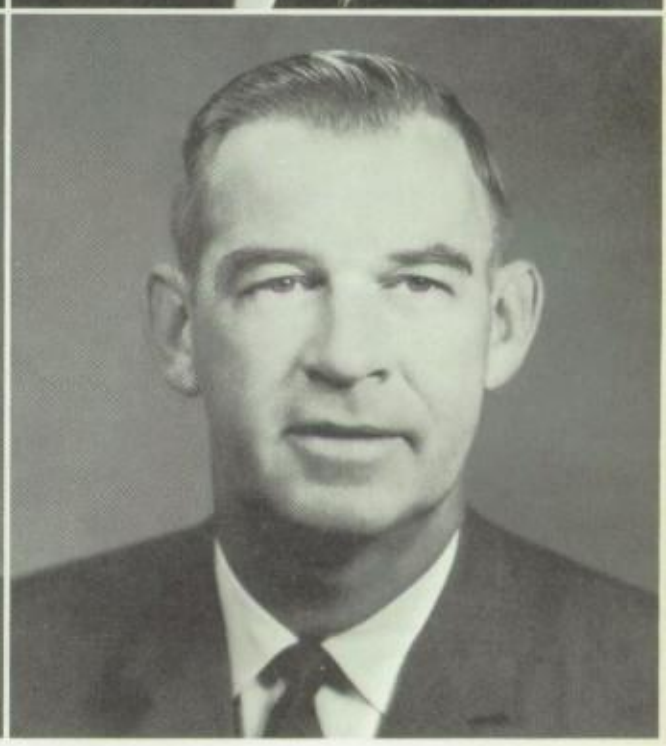
The Durham County Board consists of Mrs. Willard Marley, Mr. Kenneth C. Royall, chairman; Mr. J. M. Whitfield, Mr. L. R. Chambers, vice-chairman; and Mr. Walter J. Dozier.





The Local School Committee, whose main functions are making recommendations and acting in an advisory capacity for Southern are, standing: Mr. T. J. Boatright, Mr. Coy Watson, and Mr. Morris W. Currin; seated: Mr. Maynard Stallings and Mrs. William Sink.

Administration Is

MR. CHARLES CAMPBELL, our principal, directs faculty and students, encourages student leadership, promotes scholarship and athletics, and exemplifies genuine concern and dedication to Southern High School on this our tenth anniversary.

As assistant principal, MR. CHARLES PARKER quickly learned the many aspects of his new job. In addition to his administrative and teaching duties, Mr. Parker is now completing an Ed.D. at Duke University.

With two new counselors, MRS. WALL and MRS. NELSON, our students have more personal attention in their individual problems, whether that be applying to college, getting a job, or just passing the six-week exams.

Hard at work, Mr. Campbell corrects yesterday's problems and prevents tomorrow's.

Scenes like this one are typical at Southern, for our principal wants to know each student personally.

You mean the counselors give guidance to teachers, too? Although Mrs. Nelson does give help to teachers, she spends most of her time helping junior high students.

Mr. Parker receives a surprise birthday cake from the faculty.

Mrs. Wall diligently checks the student directory. This along with other duties complete each school day.

They Keep Us

Mr. Fred Bane not only is in charge of building maintenance but also the popcorn machine at basketball games.

Mrs. Alligood prepares good menus.

Mrs. Beasley, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Scott,

Office assistants, Sherril Yeargan, Patsy McDaniel, Janet Latta, Lil Marks, Pat Woods, Sandra McLamb, and Sandra Addison help the secretaries keep the records of the school in order.

Our thanks to William Turrentine, Lonie Brown, and Beulah Clay for keeping Southern's appearance good.

Enthusiasts

With studies ranging from grammar and literature to creative writing, the Southern English program provided students with the challenge to broaden their horizons. The freshmen concentrated on Oliver Twist and tales of the Greek gods while sophomores relived the battles of the Romans in Julius Caesar and the French in A Tale of Two Cities. A study in American literature, featuring Crane's Red Badge of Courage, Thornton Wilder's play, Our Town, and Faulkner's The Bear, kept juniors busy. As seniors practiced abstraction in creative writing, they also delved into English works. The Canterbury Tales, Shakespeare's tragedies, Macbeth and Hamlet, Return of the Native, and Pygmalion gave the oldest Rebels a deeper insight in the world of literature.

Foreign Language and

Eighth graders were introduced to the language arts in their first year at Southern. Consisting of literature, grammar, and spelling, this course instructed them in the fundamentals of language and prepared them for the freshman English program.

Public speaking, dramatics, and the production of Our Town by the Drama Club were the main objectives of the speech class.

Offering foreign languages to college bound students, Southern's language department featured French and Latin. While French editions of the Reader's Digest, a civilization testbook, and various French short story books aided French students in their study of the language, customs, culture, and literature of the French people, Latin scholars concentrated on the fundamentals of the language and translations of Caesar. They applied their newly-acquired knowledge of the Romans at the Roman Banquet.

By using the language lab, French II students listen more closely to the lesson spoken in French.

Group discussions in language arts are helpful in better understanding of the English language.

Arithmetic

Southern Mathematicians graduated from perplexed Algebra I students, attempting quadratic equations, to even more bewildered seniors trying to find inverses for matrics. While Algebra I introduced Rebels to sets and subsets, Algebra II led them into complex imaginary numbers, logarithms, and conic sections. Geometry students displayed their understanding of the concepts of plane and solid geometry by constructing space spiders, octagons, and duodecagons. After mastering the trigometric functions, Math IV students tackled the theories of Cayley in matrix algebra. Business math provided a practical application of the mathematics of the business world.

The various science courses gave Rebels an insight into the complex world in which they live. Preparing themselves for chemistry and physics, physical science students entered the world of atoms and molecules. Biologists went a step further in this world as they analyzed the characteristics of plants and animals. The combining and breaking up of numerous chemical substances to produce unique odors, sounds, and matter was a constant reminder of industrious chemistry students. Physics applied the laws which make the atoms and molecules react as they do, thus completing the world of science at Southern.

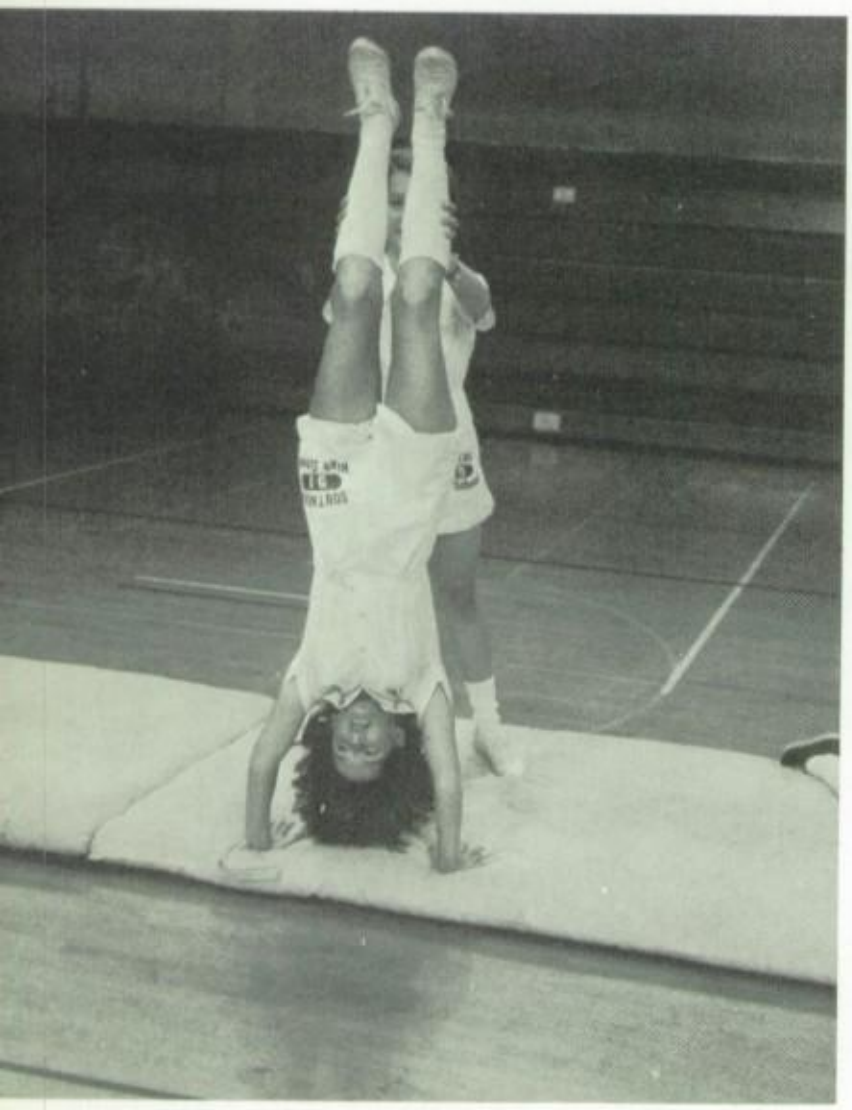
Physical Fitness



¿ytivarG

To disprove the theory that the youth of today are softer than the youth of yesteryear, Rebels indulged in a rugged physical fitness program in their physical education classes. Boys increased their strength and endurance in such sports as football, volleyball, basketball and baseball. Tumbling augmented their agility, and the parallel bars developed their muscles. To keep up with the boys, girls practiced their own techniques in volleyball, basketball and baseball. They even played a little football and some soccer to display their top physical condition. Now who can say that the rising generation is weak?

The World of Business

The Commercial Department offered a variety of subjects to prepare future secretaries, salesmen, teachers, and businessmen. Such fundamentals as typing letters, term papers, and business reports in typing benefited college bound seniors as well as future business leaders. Providing experience in keeping a set of books for a small business, bookkeeping also taught students about the payroll of a business. Shorthand enabled Rebels to take speedy lecture notes in the classroom and dictations in an office. Senior business supplied the concepts of business law and advertising.

To heighten the cultural aspects of life at Southern, the Fine Arts Department featured the chorus, the band, and the art department. Mr. Eargle directed the chorus in various concerts for assemblies and for P.T.S.A. The chorus also traveled to Durham High for a district contest and received an excellent rating. Sporting new red, white, and black uniforms, the band marched in several parades and at the home football games. A pep band augmented spirit at the basketball games with jazz renditions and the concert band performed for all interested Rebels. Rebel artists displayed their creative work in the Spring. Vocational Education

Miss Ruth Couch from the Public Service Gas Company makes her annual visit to the Home Economics Department, providing a very interesting food demonstration.

Prospective farmers, engineers, and homemakers were found in the vocational department. While Agriculture instructed boys in the methods of crop development, Industrial Arts saw blockwood turned into useful pieces of furniture. In Mechanical Drawing, boys acquired such architectural skills as drawing house plans. Striving to produce the perfect housewife, Home Economics related to girls the problems encountered in preparing meals, managing a home, caring for children, and tailoring clothes.

The Distributive Education program gave students practical experience in distribution, marketing, and management. The fundamentals of salesmanship, business organization, human relations, display techniques, and economics were learned both in the classroom and the business world.

The Industrial Cooperative Training program dealt primarily with students working in an industrial capacity. Rebels prepared themselves for the future by training in the related fields.

Tenth Graduating Class

Seniors of 1966, like the seniors ten years ago, began our last year as Southern Rebels. For four years we worked together to become a unit, a senior class. Classes like International Relations, Government, Physics, and Math IV instilled in the oldest Rebels the ability to think and reason for themselves. College, military, and industry beckoned and seniors heeded the call. Caps, gowns, and calling cards reminded us graduation was near. No sooner had "An Evening in Paris" ended than our final exams began. Then, with twelve years of hard work behind us, Southern's tenth graduating class stepped forward to accept our rewards--the diploma. Now Southern is only a memory to the senior rebels, but "we'll n'er forget you red and white, to thee we'll e'er be true."

The Senior Class officers are Norman Bledsoe, president; Dennis Greenhill, treasurer; Pat Meffert, vice-president; Barbara McFarland, secretary; Mr. Rice, sponsor; and Mike Wheeler, reporter.

"And specially, from every shirës endë
Of Engolond, to Canterbury then wendë..."
Chaucer's pilgrims were so life-like that some seniors decided to give them breath.

One Year to Go!

Juniors returned to school with expectations of the year to come. The sock-hops and talent show served as fund-raising events for the Junior-Senior. These rebels "baked" a gigantic tenth anniversary cake for their homecoming float. In December, eight juniors were inducted into the National Honor Society. Fittings for class rings added to the excitement of the junior year while PSAT and National Merit tests kept juniors busy. Climaxing nine months of work and play with Student Council elections, the Junior-Senior prom, and class rings, the rising Seniors closed their books with anticipation of the year to come.

Sophomores Capture Homecoming Prize

Excitement and enthusiasm characterized the sophomores as they began their first year in the senior high. Mastering such subjects as biology, geometry, and World History, these Rebels broadened their views of the world around them. Silas Marner, Julius Caesar, The Pearl, and Wuthering Heights increased their understanding of literature.

Displaying their creativity, the industrious sophomores captured first prize for the best Homecoming float by "stomping South Alamance."

Fund-raising projects included a bake sale to raise money for next year's Junior-Senior Prom.

Activities

A Decade of Leadership
Displaying pride in self and school, they strive to develop all aspects of life at Southern.

Student Council

Becky Sanders confers with Mr. Reeve concerning the Chocolate Sale.

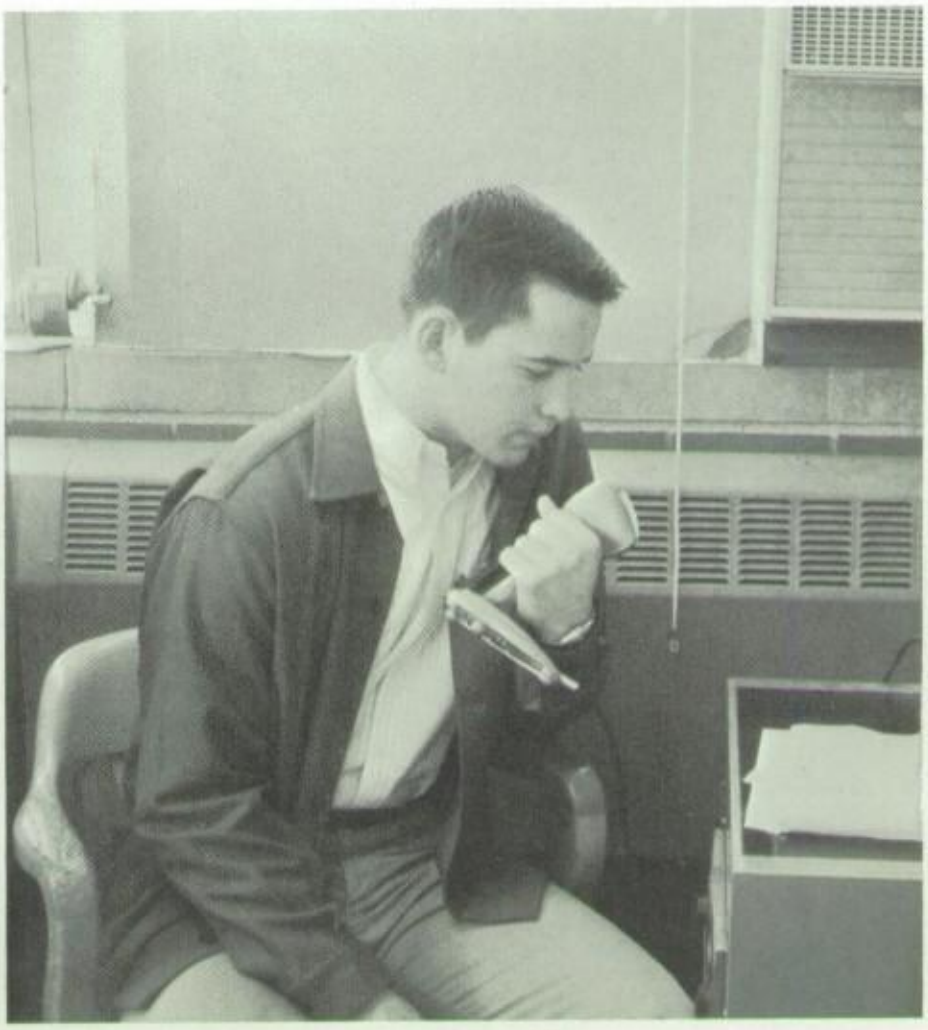
Stan Swinson, sergeant-at-arms, performs his duty of flag raising.

Bill, at the P.A. system, delivers the morning announcements.



Students Work for SHS Betterment

The school year began early for the executive committee of the student council. Mrs. Williams, Bill Andrews, and Deborah Gregory returned from Mars Hill with new ideas to improve the student council. Various committees and their heads were set up, and "Climb Every Mtn." served as the theme of Orientation Day. While a very successful chocolate sale provided necessary funds, the council initiated a School Betterment Committee to supplement school spirit. A few of the many projects taken on were aiding a needy family at Christmas and improving the appearance of Southern during Clean-Up Week. April was highlighted by the UMOC dance and the crowning of Southern's own UMOC.

The 1965-66 student council reached the peak of the mountain, and turned its responsibilities over to the newly installed officers, to reach beyond the top, and on to the sky.

"Work!" Fred High and Becky Roberts show school spirit by helping out during Clean-up Week.

Changes

Co-editors for this year's annual are Deborah Holder and Rosa Lee Puryear.

Accepting the challenge of Orientation Day, the 1966 Le Sabre Staff began recording a decade at Southern and set out to make this year's annual the best yet. Under the guidance of Mrs. Ray and Mrs. Phillips, the staff initiated many new ideas.

Co-editors Deborah Holder and Rosa Lee Puryear and Business Manager Linda Adkins instigated ad sales in August, and began to organize the staff. As the year progressed, many new changes developed. The name of the annual became Le Sabre. Artwork added to the creativity of the Le Sabre.

Deadline dates approached and the frantic staff members hurried to complete their work. The annual went to press in June, thus concluded a year of hard work and creative thinking. The 1966 Le Sabre now serves as a complete account of Southern High School's tenth anniversary year.

Are Made

"But you just have to buy an annual!" says Sandra Thompson in an attempt to sell a copy of this year's annual to Ollie Laughter..

Linda Adkins, Business Manager, works hard toward a good annual sale in the delapidated Rebel Room.

Annual members work hard to meet next deadline.

NHS at SHS

Dimly lighted, the auditorium provided the setting for the National Honor Society induction. Nineteen new members were inducted. Old members gave meaningful speeches on scholarship, leadership, citizenship, and service. These things serve as a code for which and by which the National Honor Society stands. Selling popcorn and candy at basketball games is the Honor Society's means of fund raising.

Books, Fines, and Aides

Library assistants help others locate books, stamp books, and keep up with fees. This does not end the duties of the library, however. They also issue film projectors and possible showing of these films is also the duty of these willing students. These students also greeted a new sponsor at the end of first semester, Mrs. Hunt.

Latin Club officers are: K. Coates, vice-president; L. McFarland, reporter; J. George, president; T. Shepherd, secretary; R. Dean, treasurer; Mrs. Tevel, sponsor.

Southern's Latin Club began planning the year's activities early this year. The "Latin Lovers" presented a skit at the Junior Class Talent Show. The skit was a humorous play of Caesar's death. Darkness and togas characterized the Latin banquet. Lounging about made the members feel even more like Romans. Servants waited on the resting masters like true Romans. An open-house was held in May for all interested parents.

Parlez-vous

French Club officers are: Gayle Wilson, secretary; Mike Wheeler, president; Cheryl Odom, vice-president; Ronald Rowe, treasurer; Mrs. Cabe, sponsor.

This year's French Club had an early banquet in the Frenchman's style. Many skits were presented at their meetings. One such skit was the Fox and the Crow by Charles Watson and Barry Smith. A party was held at the end of the year. An active year came to a close at this party.

Bulletin board by French students helps to improve the appearance of Mrs. Cabe's French room.

F.C.A. officers are - Mr. Blake, sponsor; Phil Wiggins, president; Frank Pate, treasurer; Chippy Gill, vice-president.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes got off to a good start with the addition of new members, the cheerleaders. At their weekly meetings they had many speakers and showed interesting films. Booklets, entitled The Christian Athlete, were distributed to the members. These booklets contain accounts of valuable experiences and advice of athletes and coaches.

D.E.C.A.

During the year the D.E. club had many meetings. They went bowling together and even attended the State Fair together. Beautifying their corner has been one of their main jobs this year. They won the Homecoming display contest for clubs. Three parties have kept the members busy this year. They had a Christmas party, parents night, and an employee-employer banquet. The club received a Sears award for being an outstanding representative of the DECA clubs of America.

The prize winning Homecoming display "racked up" another award for the D.E. Club.

DECA members - ROW ONE: M. Martin, L. Poe, N. Strictland, R. Smith, M. Sayre, S. Rigsbee, J. Little, ROW TWO: R. Penny, P. Teasley, J. Morris, G. Blankenbeckler, ROW THREE: M. Boswell, R. Mathis, A. V.I.C.A.

Southern's chapter of the Vocational and Industrial Clubs of America have had a very busy year. During Christmas they aided a needy family by buying toys and fixing old ones. Together they collected money to buy rocks to improve their parking lot. They attended the state convention of VICA clubs which was held in Raleigh.

H.C.C. officers are: Kay Ross, secretary; Reid Walls, president; Janice Smith, treasurer; Mrs. Schnitker, sponsor; and Deborah Holder, vice president.

Health Careers Club's monthly meetings were enriched by several distinguished speakers who spoke on topics concerning genetics and other phases of health. They also sponsored an assembly on the evils of drug addiction. A film concerning a young girl was shown, and an interesting speaker helped to make the assembly to become a success.

Drama Returns to SHS

Drama Club officers are - K. Gregory, treasurer; J. Griffin, secretary; Mrs. Cabe, sponsor; D. Gregory, vice-president; Linda Adkins, president.

After an absence of some years, the Drama Club returned to Southern. Although it was organized later in the year than most clubs, it acquired a large number of interested persons. There are approximately sixty members. It was decided that the play for this year would be "Our Town". Rehearsals were held even though they were often hectic. The finished product was displayed to the public March 24. Scenes from the play were given at an assembly prior to the opening night. Our Town was produced by Mrs. Cabe and directed by Mrs. Ray.

Drama Club members - ROW ONE: D. Gregory, T. Layton, L. Albright, J. Boatright, S. Pierce, S. Bridwell, B. Knight, C. Odom, D. Saunders, Mrs. Cabe, ROW TWO: K. Edenfield, P. Foushee, M. Moles, M. New Uniforms at Last

Shown here are the members of the Southern High School Marching Band. There are approximately fifty members of the marching band with still more members expected in the years to come.

Mr. Lopp, sponsor; S. Holt, assistant uniform librarian; D. Register, president; C. Frye, uniform librarian; ROW TWO: L. Rigsbee, property manager; M. Camp, librarian; D. Boatright, secretary; B. Pierce, drum major.

The majorettes are - Lois Little, Pam Pittman, Gayle Wilson, head, Sharon Benson, and Lil Marks.

Band Boosters

At the beginning of the year the band rehearsed under the direction of Mr. Campbell and Barry Pierce. Then later in the year Mr. Lopp came to Southern.

The sparkling uniforms of the band were displayed at this year's many football games. The efforts of the Band Boosters Club made it partially possible for the band to have these new uniforms. Dances have also been sponsored by the Band Boosters Club in order to help raise money for the band.

The band traveled a great deal this year. They attended the Cary Band Festival, marched in the Miss Durham Parade and the Christmas Parade. They also received a rating of superior when they visited Greensboro.

The Spring was highlighted by a trip to Wilmington to play during the yearly Azalea Festival. The trip was enjoyed by all who attended.

The band members worked diligently to improve their arrangements which were to be played at the Azalea Festival in Wilmington.

Playing at pep rallies was only one of the services of the band this year. They also entertained at several football and basketball games.

Under the supervision of Mr. Lopp, the band has prospered greatly as well as been enjoyed by all band members.

So-Hi

The So-Hi Club, formed to aid Southern High, performed many activities to raise money for the betterment of the school. Its most important activities included the semi-annual barbeque and brunswick stew supper. Money raised from this helps pay for the new band uniforms and athletic field improvements. Operating the concession stand during football and basketball season is also one of their significant jobs. Credit goes to many willing parents for their support of S.H.S.

Mothers help out in the selling of refreshments at football games.

Secretaries in the office help to sell tickets to football games in order to promote the school activities.

Mr. Rice and Mr. Pate lend their talents to broadcasting the news of the football games. Thanks to them we always know what is happening.

PTSA

This year's PTSA has done a great deal to help the students of Southern. All student-parent-teacher relationships are strengthened due to this organization. The support of all parents is greatly appreciated by the faculty and students.

Bus Drivers

This year's bus drivers are - ROW ONE: T. Althaus, R. Glenn, F. Thompson, D. Fields, M. Shaw, P. Mcleod, D. Moses, T. Price, L. Dillard, M. Buchanan, ROW TWO: R. McKenney, N. Bledsoe, F. Perry, J. Green, C. Watson, K. Glenn, E. Riggs, J. Taylor, J. L. Jackson, R. Poplin.

Congratulations to all students who achieved A or B honor roll first semester.

Southern Sings!

Chorus members - ROW ONE: Mr. Earle, B. McFarland, L. Markham, B. Gunter, K. Guthrie, G. Coley, D. High, W. Gardner, A. George, B. Moss, B. Maynard, ROW TWO: D. Andrews, C. King, N. Shaw, T. Clements, J. L. Jackson, W. Cross, B. Harrill F. Pate.

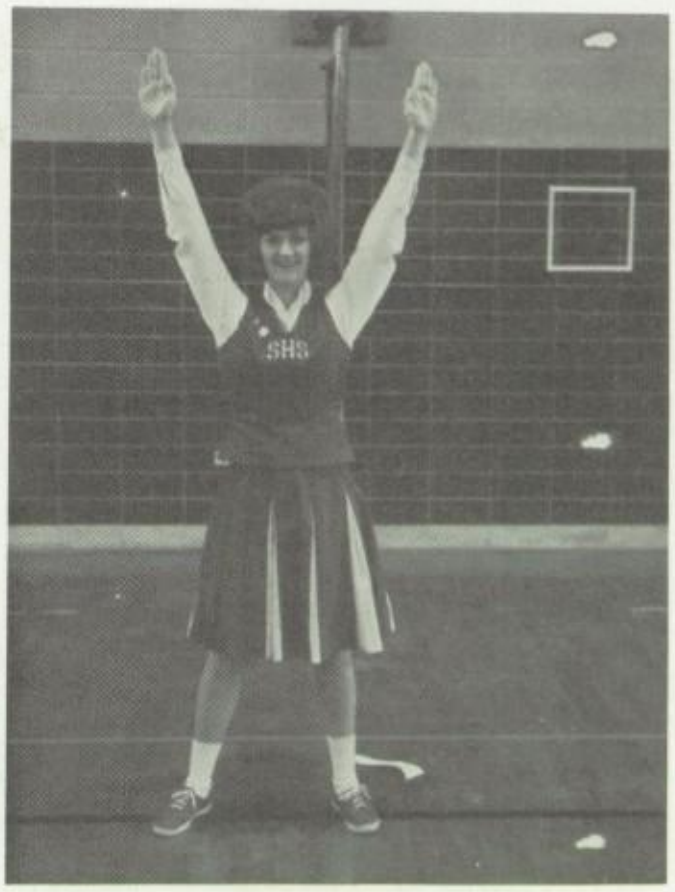
Our chorus has almost doubled in quantity as well as quality. Under the superb leadership of Mr. Louis Eargle, the chorus has had a prosperous year. Daily practice brought results at the Spring Festival held at Durham High School. They won the rating of "excellent" on their annual trip.

Many selections were sung at the assemblies this year. The chorus sang at Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter and also at the U.N. Speech assembly.

Mr. Eargle rehearses the chorus prior to the Spring Festival.

Cheerleaders Promote Spirit

Without the aid of a sponsor, this year's cheerleader squad aroused much school spirit. Several skits were presented over the intercom as well as the pep rallies. The "school spirit chain" proved to be a big success at football season. Picket lines marched and bicycles rolled during school spirit week. Varsity and JV basketball players served as cheerleaders at one pep rally, while the cheerleaders played basketball. The Pep Club was also started in order to promote even more spirit. Club members wear vests and beanies.



"V" for Victory!!

Cheerleaders and energetic fans spur on players at Orange-Southern game.

This year's Cheerleaders are: Clockwise: Pam Spence, Kay Underwood, Jan Griffin, Greta Coley, Kaylor Gregory, Karen Guthrie, Marcia Raynor, Linda Adkins, head; and Deborah Gregory.

SHS Gets New Head Grid Coach

"Be Rough, Be Tough, Be a Rebel" was the battle cry of the SHS football team for the 1965 season. Sparked by an enthusiastic coach, Mickey Walker of Wake Forest, the Rebels fought with a determination to win. Suffering losses in the initial games, the Southern gridders bounced back to stomp South Granville, Jordan, Oxford and to capture the first homecoming victory over South Alamance.

Coach Walker explains proper punting method to Rebel captains; Chippy Gill, and David Collins.

Erratic Three Win Season

As the dimming echoes of spirited fans were heard throughout the football stadium, enthusiastic basketball fans gathered in the gym. The Rebel cagers began their rigid practicing in early November, and displayed their versatile talents as the season opened in December. Close games kept the fans excited throughout the hardwood contests. With the formation of the Rebel Club, spirit surged. These beanie-and-vest-clad students aided the cheerleaders in yells and songs. Although we were not overwhelmed with victories, the Rebel team exhibited good sportsmanship, and a challenging spirit.

Dear Miss Griffin,

I am very pleased to tell you that our board of five judges has selected Miss Deborah Gregory as Miss Southerner and Miss Marcia Hargrove as her honor attendant.

The board, consisting of five paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division, made the selection in a secret ballot on March 30. I can assure you that the balloting was very close.

As soon as the pictures of the board are processed, we will send them to you, along with the pictures of the candidates.

We are very glad to have been able to act as judges in the selection of Miss Southerner. Please extend our congratulations to Miss Gregory and to all the other candidates.

Sincerely,

LAWRENCE P. SMILEY

Judy Critcher

The highlight of the 1965 homecoming festivities was when Marcia Raynor stepped forth as the reigning beauty. The occasion was festooned by bright colors and heightened by a victory of Southern over the Rebels of South Alamance. The sophomore class captured the honor of the winning homecoming float with the theme "Stomp South Alamance." After the music of the Rebel Marchers at half-time, Southern Rebels carried their enthusiasm to the sock hop.

Royalty

Steps

The junior class made their contribution to the array of beauty with their representative Kay Ross and her escort Walter Hudson.

The sophomore class, not to be outdone, showed up with their beauty too, here we have Greta Coley and her escort C. B. Edwards.

Forth

Over the ten years of Southern High School the crowning glory has been passed from generation to generation.

Some of the greatest thrills of the Homecoming program were the "playing of the band" and the "prancing of the majorettes".

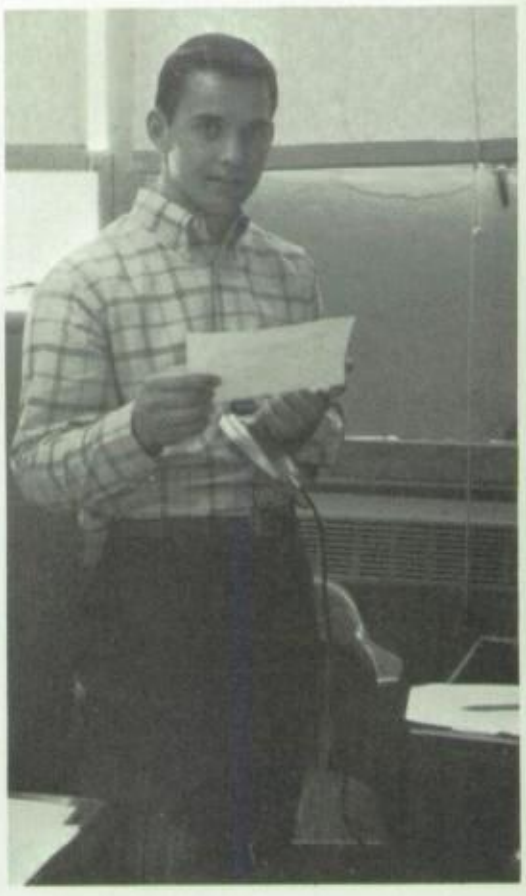
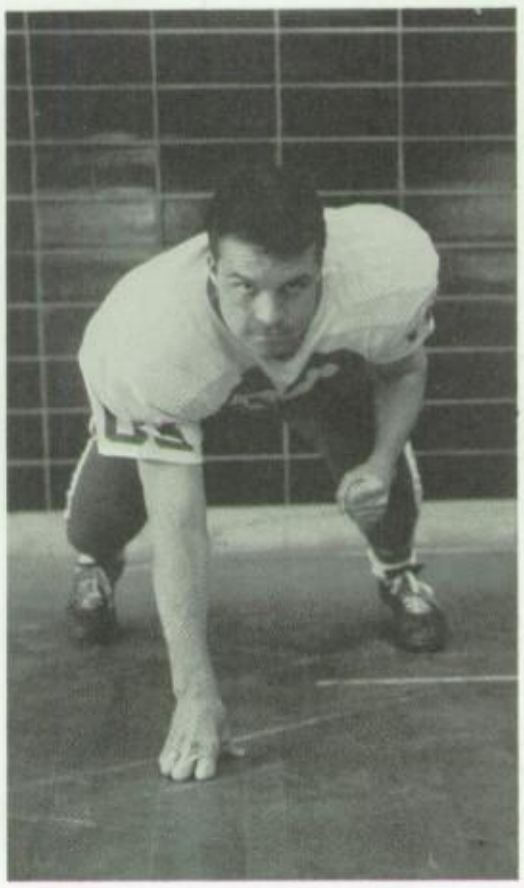
Twelve Outstanding

Being head cheerleader is a full-time job, but Linda Adkins also serves as business manager for the Le Sabre, is a member of Student Council, and took a leading role in the school play Our Town.

Bill Andrews amazed all this year with his ability to carry several of Southern's top jobs. He is president of the Student Council and one of our roughest football players. He is shown here making the daily morning announcements.



NHS has become a personal symbol of John George. Proving that brains and brawn do go together, John was president of the NHS and an end on the Rebel football team.

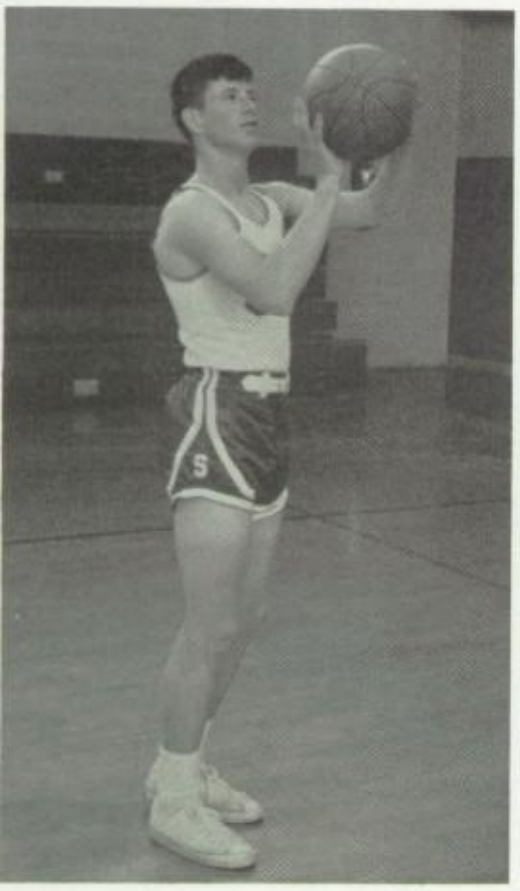


A friend to all, Chippy Gill has a personality many should imitate. Chippy is a football player and an active member of the drama club.

Our roving reporter, Laura Goins, provided news for the Durham Morning Herald. Not only can Laura write, but she also is caretaker of money for the Student Council.

What would have happened to Our Town if we had not had our prompter Deborah Gregory? Deborah was a national finalist in the National English Awards Contest, and graces our yearbook as Miss Southerner.

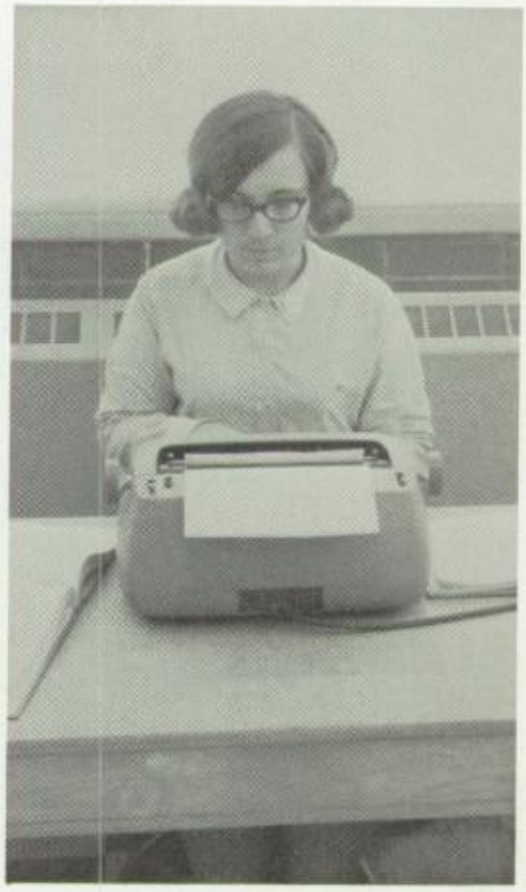
Seniors 1965-1966



All-Conference forward Wallace Harris carried the Rebel flag in basketball honors. Wallace has been able to combine his basketball talent and his football ability.

Girls can be athletic too, as proved by Marcia Raynor who is a Rebel cheerleader and an active member of G.A.A. Marcia was also an Honor Attendant in the Miss Southerner contest.

New York or bust! Having won the United Nations speech contest, Cheryl Odom was awarded a trip to New York and Washington. Cheryl should have been successful at the U.N. since she is an outstanding French student.



Rosa Lee Puryear is working for her favorite club, F.B.L.A. Besides being its president, she is also co-editor of the 1966 Le Sabre. In between this, she maintains a high scholastic average.

Pat Meffert, shown teaching a class, is president of F.T.A. She is also vice-president of the senior class, proving that girls do have executive ability.

Tommy Sanders was chosen this year to attend the Science Symposium at Carolina. Tommy has combined his scientific interest with dramatics.

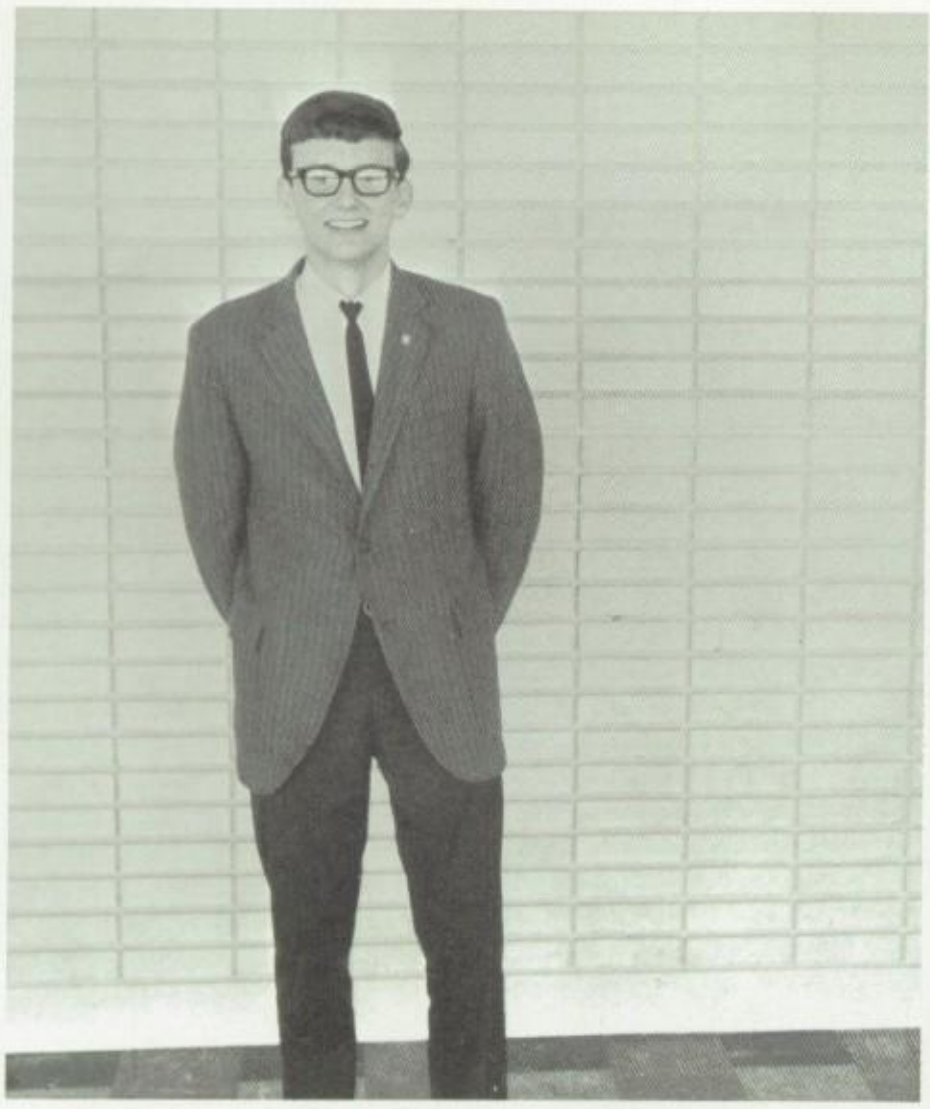
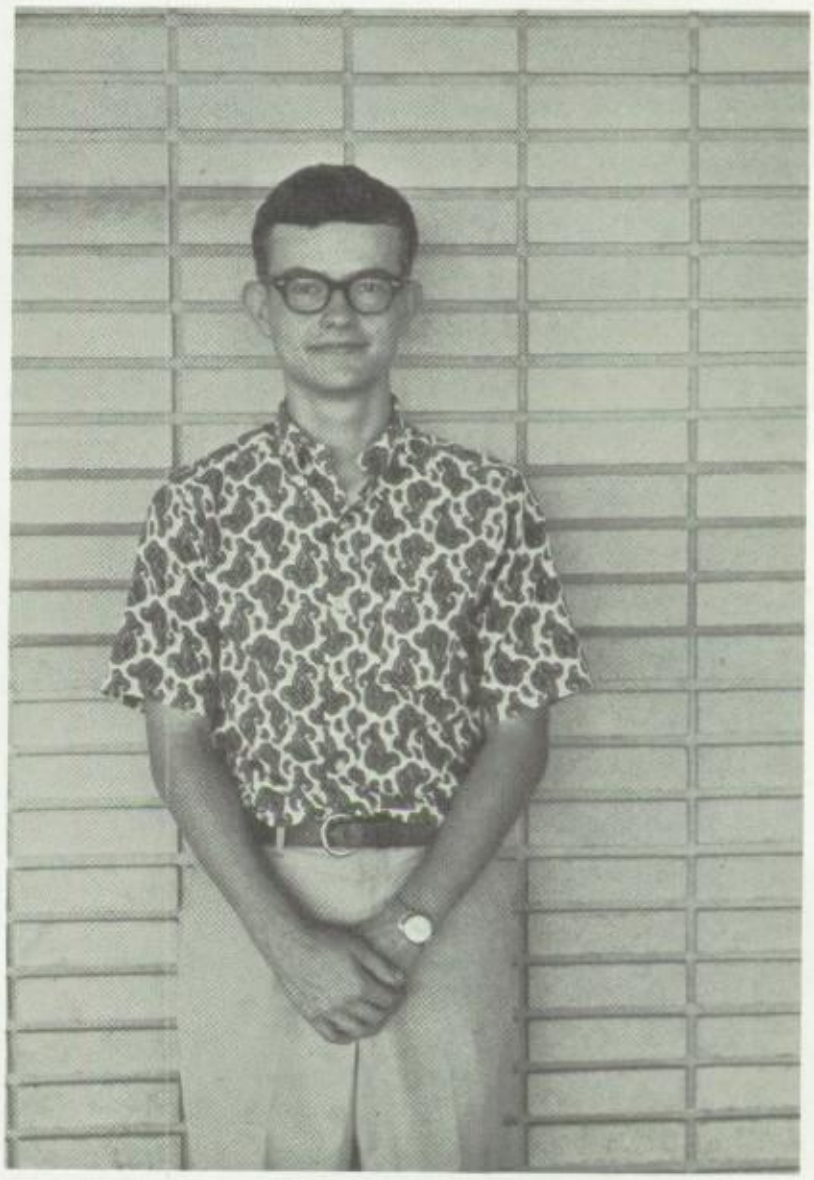
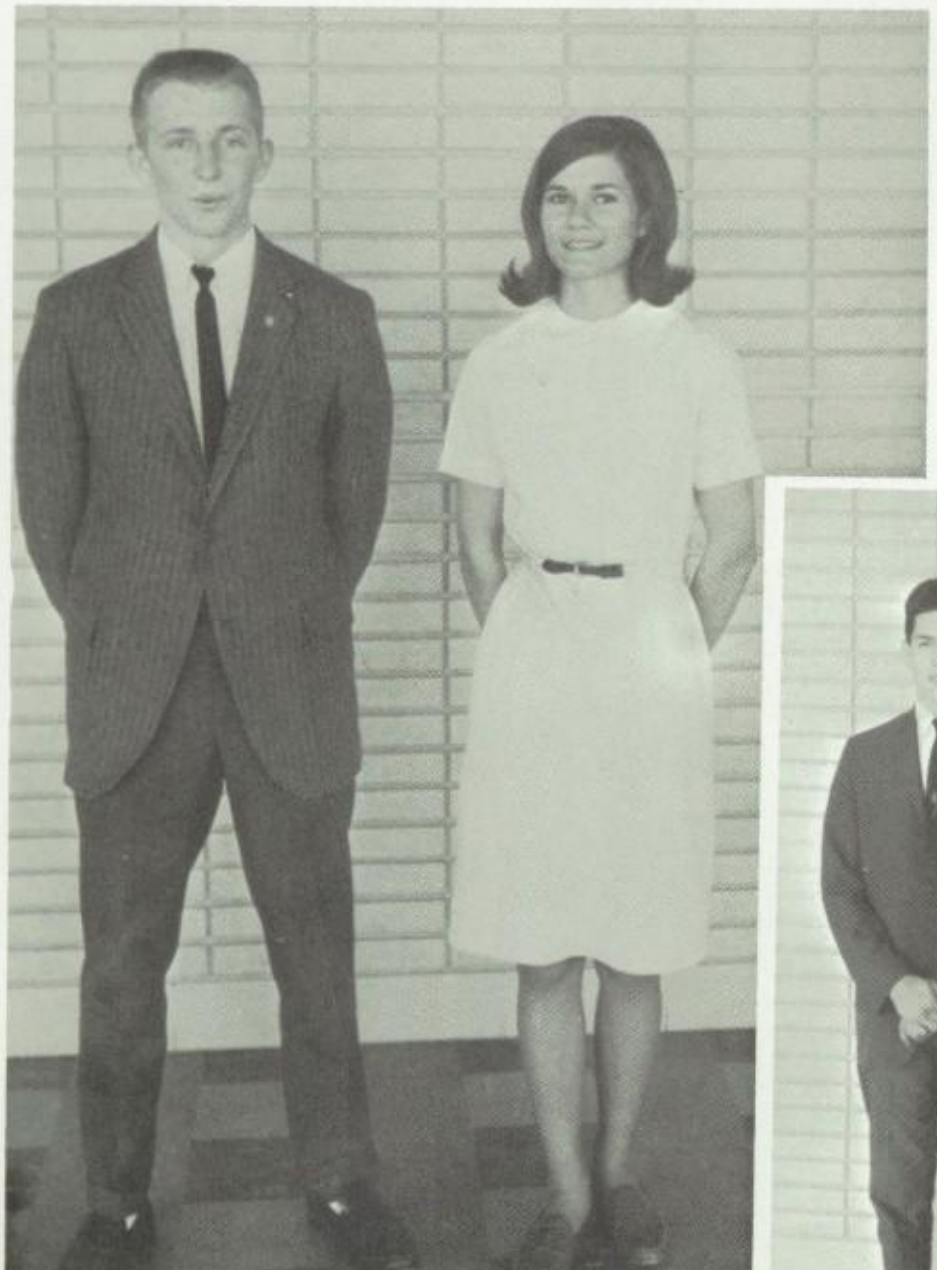
Underclassmen Win Honors



Southern's representative to Boys' State is Mike Eddins.



Don George and Kay Ross will spend a week in the mountains this summer at Wild Acres for a leadership conference sponsored by the Civitans.



Southern was represented at Governor's school by Leon Holleman.

Mr. Gravitt with representatives to the Science Seminar at U.N.C.: Tommy Sanders, Jan Griffin, Bobby Mitchell, and Mike Camp.

Coach Blake talks with So-Hi officers: Mr. Stephens, Mr. Perry, and Mr. Faulkner.

Active band boosters, Mr. Camp and Mr. Christian get ideas from Mr. Lopp.

Outstanding senior football award goes to Chippy Gill.

Outstanding basketball player for 1966 is Wallace Harris.

Don Register and Randy Watkins received this year's band awards.

Athletic Awards Banquet

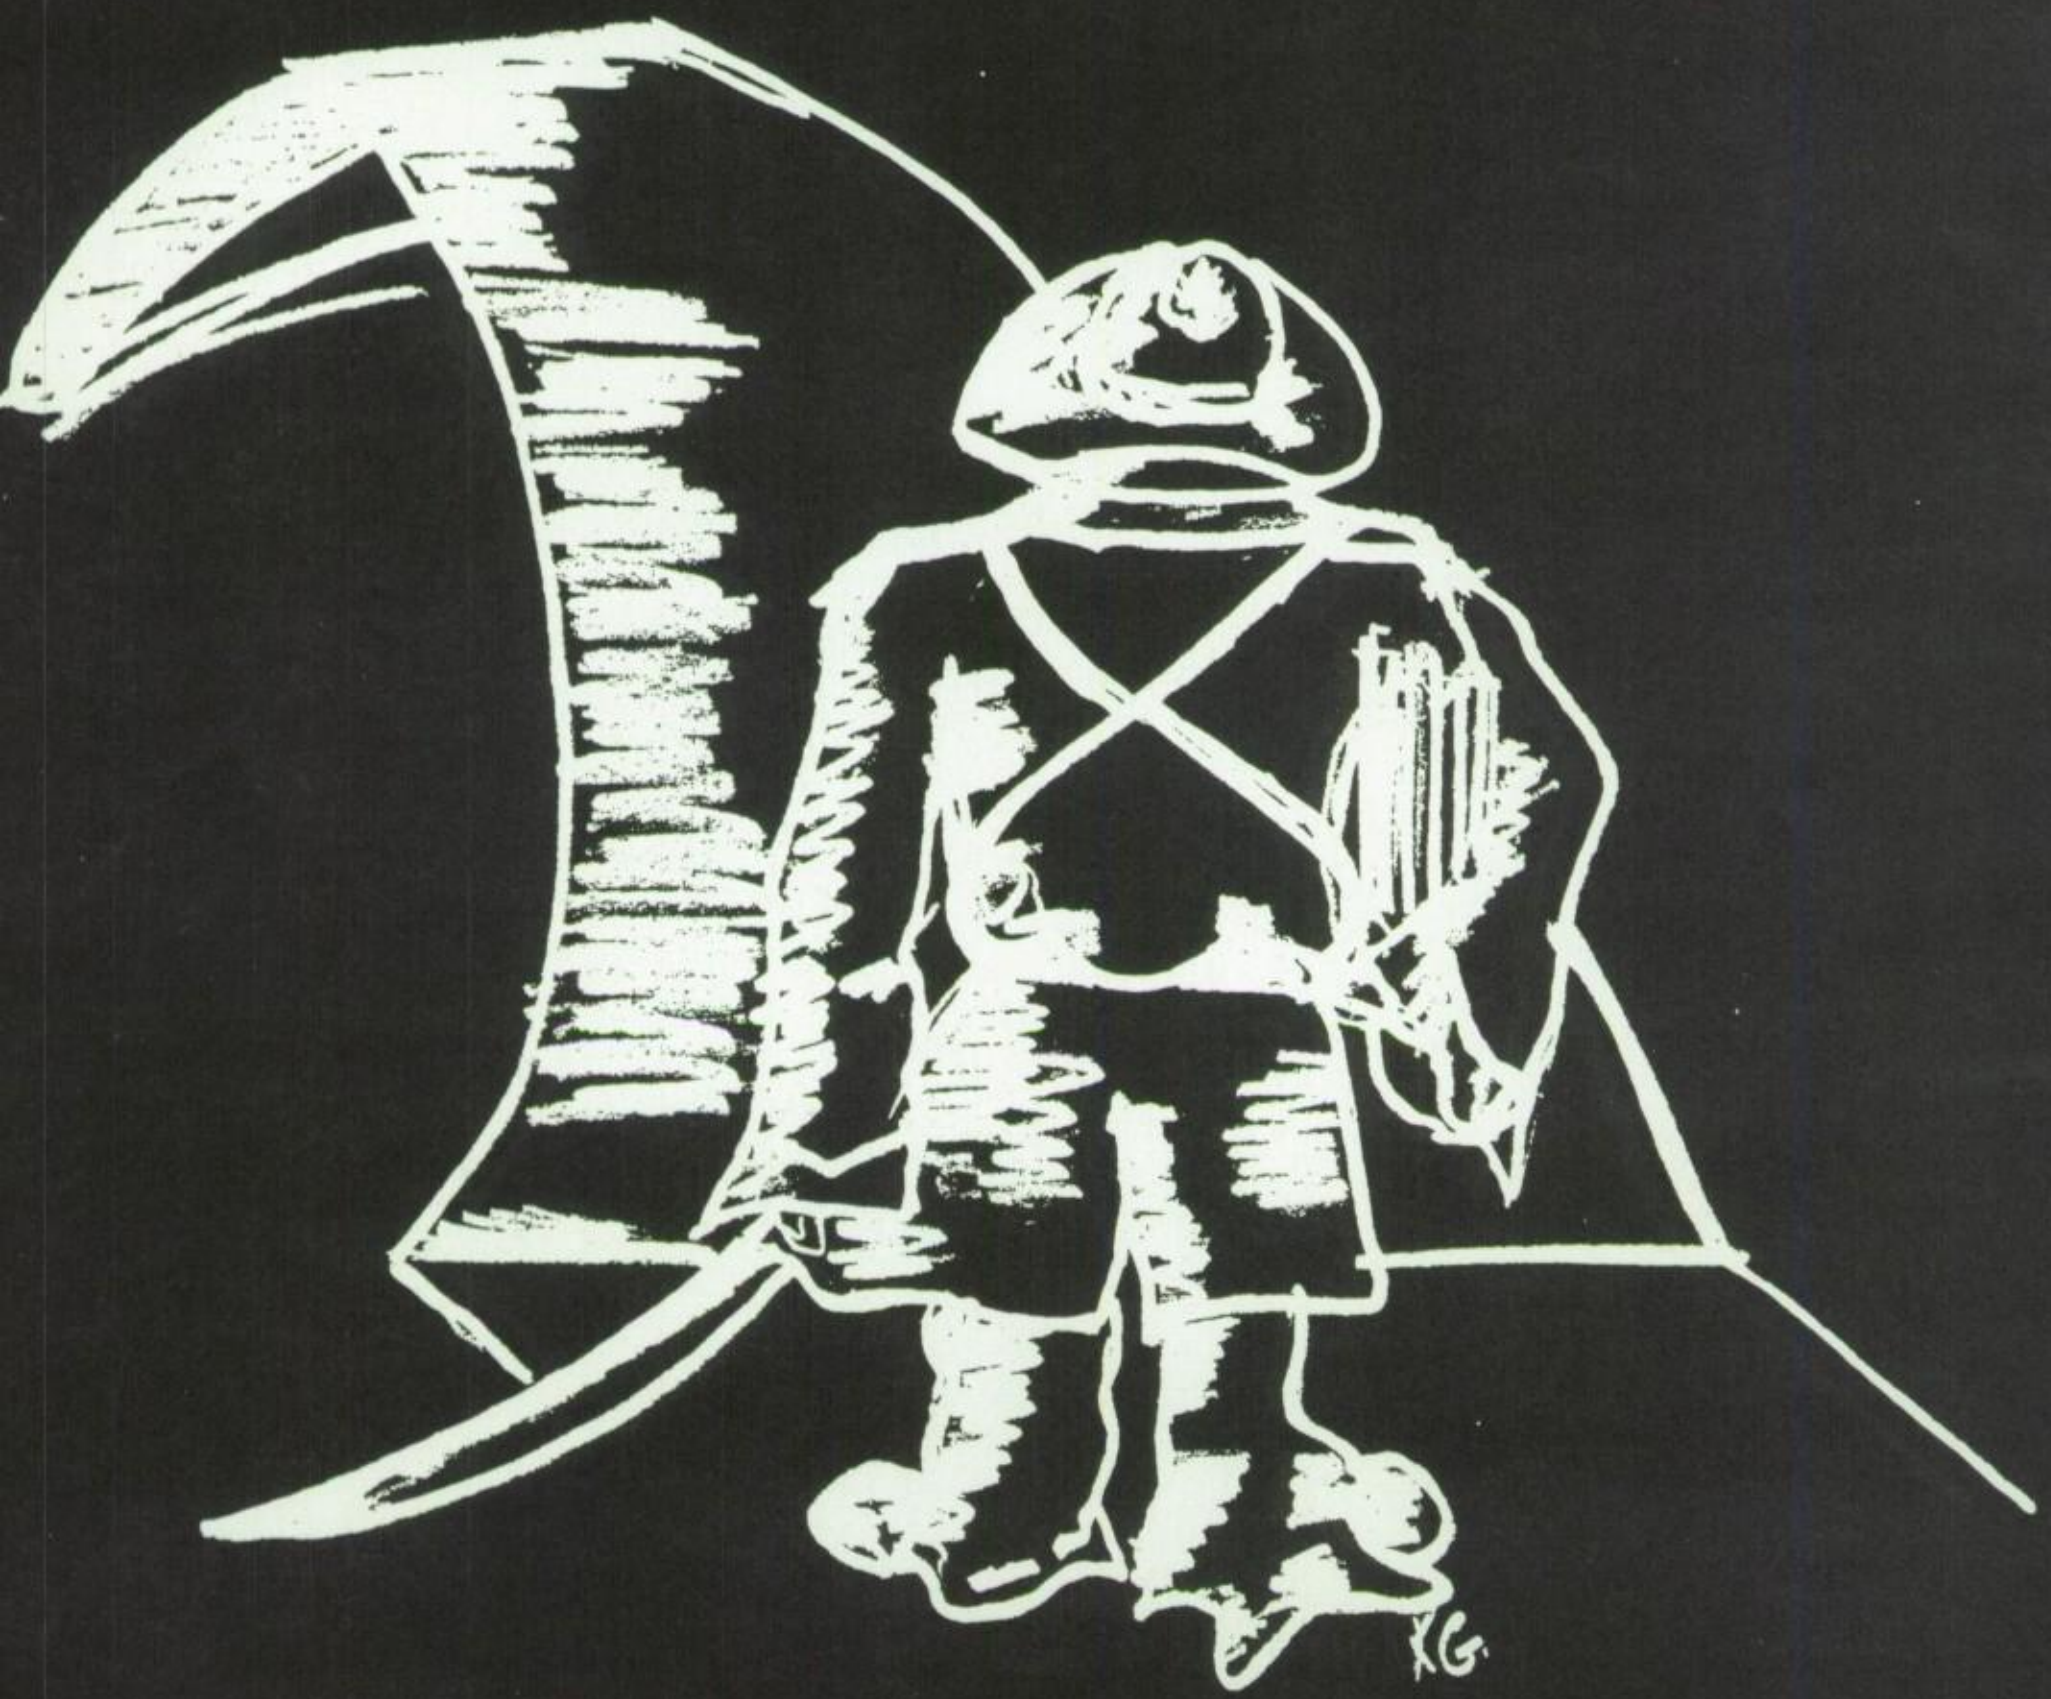
So-Hi boosters, parents, coaches, and athletes met to feast and fete outstanding athletes and band members. It is fitting that the band and the athletic department hold a joint banquet, for the band members are Southern's most avid athletic boosters, playing at football and basketball games, and carrying Southern's colors in Durham parades.

Fot the first time the Preston Chandler award for athletics was awarded to a girl, cheerleader Marcia Raynor.

The following received awards: Sandra Barefoot, Wallace Harris, Don Register, David Collins, Fred Smith, Chippy Gill, Marvin Utley, Randy Watkins, and Billy Jo Harris.

Junior High School

They will accept the challenge and become the future leaders of Southern High School.



REBELS

Ninth Grade

Working hard all year, the ninth grade class established themselves as head of Southern Junior High School. An invitation was extended to each student to take an active part in the Junior High activities by signing up for committees and interest groups; an entirely new idea at Southern. Although two hour exams and class changes frightened and confused the young Rebels at first, they still found time to have fun. Miss Snowflake was crowned at the Junior High Winter Carnival. As the year closed and we finished finals, almost all of us looked forward to next year--our first year of High School.

The ninth grade class officers are: D. Bowen, B. Carr, L. Wheeley, D. Appel, Mrs. Stallings, sponsor, B. Harris, S. Holt.

The Eager Eighth

Excited yet bewildered, eager yet timid - all are characteristics of the youngest Rebels. As the 8th graders struggled through their first year of junior high, they encountered many new aspects of school life: changing classes, election of class officers, athletic teams, cheerleaders, ballgames, dances, and various extra-curricular activities. The student council interest groups provided the opportunity to make new acquaintances and share common ideas and hobbies. Accepting the challenge "Climb Every Mountain", these Rebels tackled their problems with enthusiasm and determination, awaiting the day when they will be able to lead in the progress of Southern.

The 8th grade class officers are Herbie Perry, president; Joel Page, treasurer; Carolyn Stallings, secretary; Janice Mitchell, vice president; Beverly Watson, reporter; and Mrs. Elizabeth Helsing, sponsor.

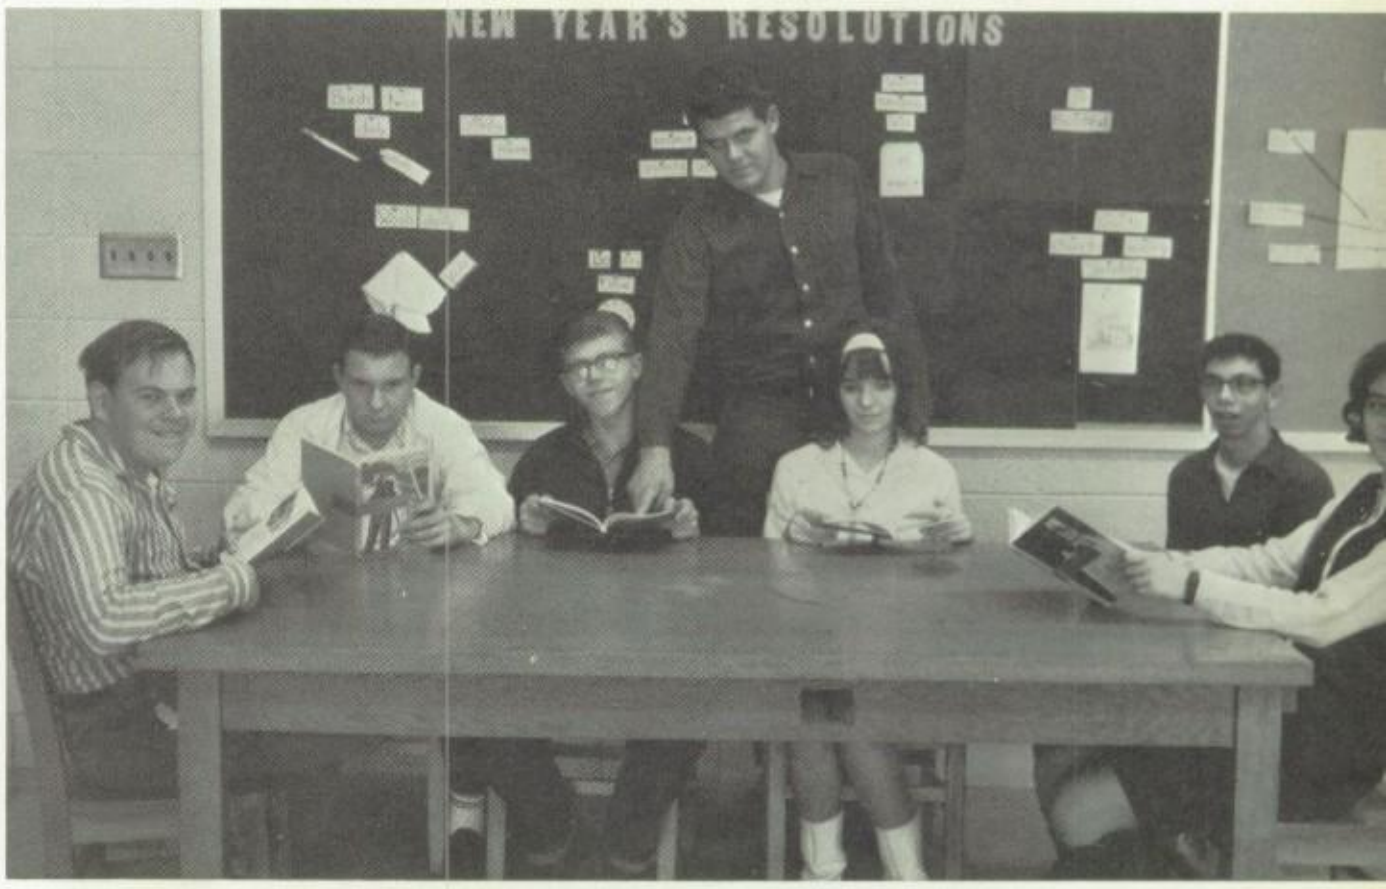
Southern's expert salesmen this year came from our special education class. After topping all other classes in the Student Council chocolate sale, their efforts were rewarded with a night out for dinner at Turnege's. Congratulations for a job well done!



With their New Year's resolutions in the background, these students prepare for an interesting and beneficial reading session.

Interest Groups

"Have group, will travel" seems to be the theme of these travelers as they gather around maps and pamphlets of various countries.

"Getting to know you" is the thought of these North Carolinians as they learn more about the Tar-Heel State.

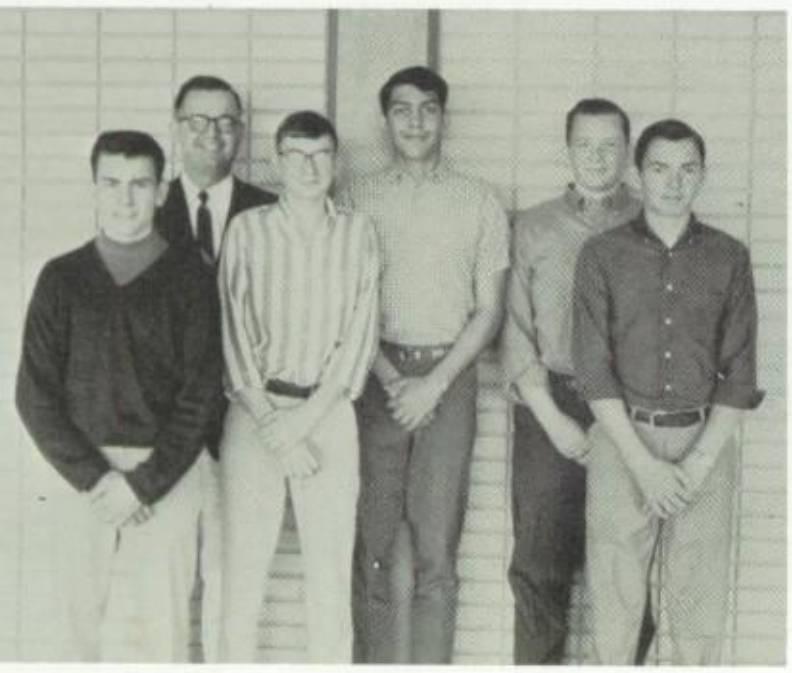
One, two, cha-cha-cha! is the theme of the dancers as they pensively try a few steps.

Channel Talents

Mrs. Tate's school beautification group meets anxiously in the lobby with their buckets, mops, and brooms in search of any stray bits of dirt.

The Rock Hounds, led by Mrs. Helsing, proudly display their growing collection.

Familiarizing the sports group with the equipment of a football player is Mr. Walker, who knows as well as anyone the importance of their use.



To learn the mechanics of the radio was the idea behind Mr. Parker's interested group of boys.

The junior high chorus prepares to raise their voice in song.

The Drama Group listens attentively to Mrs. Nelson's explanations, obviously histrionic.

Mrs. Tavel's poetic prospects recite a few choice lines of...Shakespeare?

Mrs. Little's group on Good Music relaxes to the sound of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony.

Larry Perkins shows a specimen of his collection to the coin and stamp collectors and their sponsor, Miss Smith.

Making a field trip to see Superior Court in session was the project of our International Affairs group.

To increase their knowledge, the Southern High Good Readers read studiously...and often.

Taking on a wide field, Mr. Phillips trains his artists in arts and in architecture.

Jr. High Student Council Revises Constitution

Junior High Student Council Officers: Deborah Coe, treasurer; Jeff Newton, president; Linda McFarland, vice president; Harry Wheeler, sergeant at arms; Linda Fields, secretary; Miss Burgess, sponsor

The second year of Junior High Student Council proved to be successful. After revising their constitution, the organization became active within the Junior High. Representing the council at the Student Council State Convention in Burlington were Jeff Newton, Herbert Perry, and Harry Wheeler. New ideas were presented at the convention in hopes that they might improve various areas of the council. Activities sponsored by the Junior Council included a talent show in the fall and a dance, the Winter Carnival, where Karen Howerton was crowned "Miss Snowflake". Interesting assemblies included a mock session of the United Nations, a film and lecture on narcotics, and discussions on school improvement. The election of new officers climaxed the council's year.

J.V. Cheerleaders are: Ruth Nichols, Sue Spence, Lynn Wheeley, Billie Jo Harris, head, Deborah Bowen, Dana Griffin, and Judy Carlton

Leap Frog livened pep rallies.

Jeff Newton leads the discussion in the school improvement assembly for Junior High students; afterwards, the cheerleaders stimulate school spirit.

It's a bird! It's a plane!.... No! It's Superman!! In the Junior High Talent show, the female forces of Betty Shepherd and Vivian Taylor attack our husky hero.

Southern's Tenth

Mr. Rice leads the seniors for the last time, for with this graduation he ends his years at Southern. Next Year's seniors will miss Mr. Rice and his knowledge of the thousand and one items that a senior sponsor needs to know.

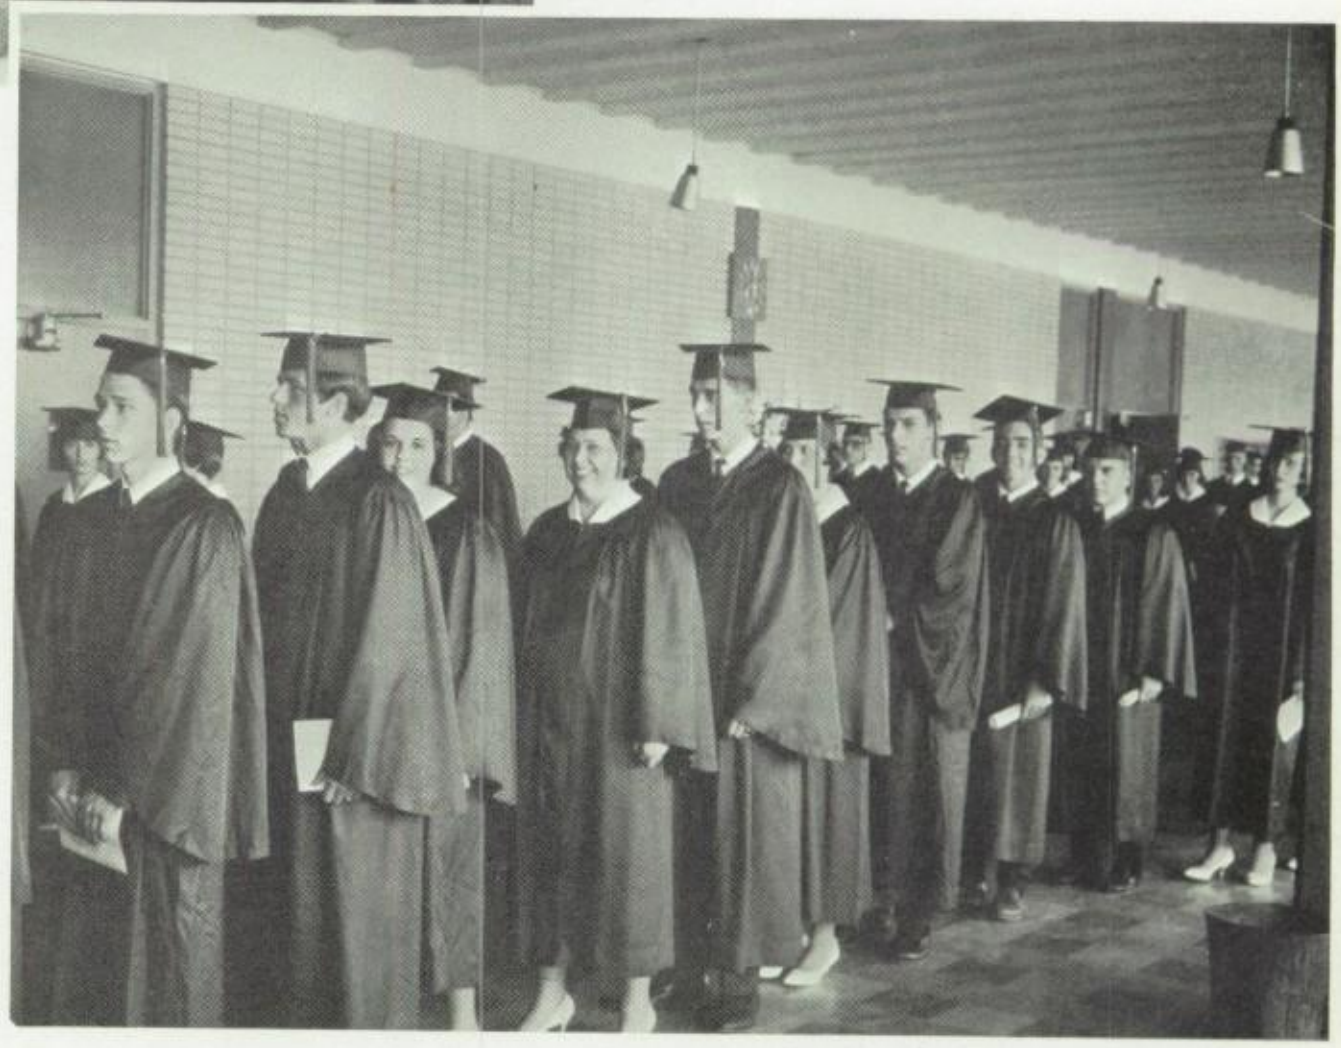
Seniors are excited, but they still have an appetite for the dainties served at the baccalaureate reception. In the background parents and teachers congratulate the seniors.

Graduating Class

Preparing for the final walk, seniors don their caps and gowns. Although they have anxiously awaited this last day, many could not keep back the tears, knowing they were saying goodbye not only to Southern, but also to many of their friends.



The last line for Southern's 1966 seniors - but a diploma will be awaiting them at the end of this line.

And so farewell...
